School Pays!

Higher ACHS attendance means better students, more money

Attending class in high school pays in more ways than one.

Antioch Community High School officials are in the midst of preparing an attendance report for the board of education which shows that the average daily attendance jumped 1.34 percent in one year.

In the 1994-95 year, the average daily attendance was 92.68 percent. In 1995-96 year, the attendance was 94.02 percent.

Although the increase may appear small, administrators are calling the improved attendance "significant" for a number of See ATTENDANCE page A10

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

He was described as quiet and reserved. She was the energetic and outgoing one of the two.

Both were high school sweethearts who epitomized that opposites attract.

Cermak

Waszak

Now, their union together will have to continue at a spiritual level.

Friends of the young Antioch couple were in shock when they learned that Paul Waszak, 19, and Chaneice Cermak, 17, were not going to fulfill their dream of living their lives together united in matrimony.

Waszak and Cermak lost their lives following a deadly accident at the intersection of Route 59 and Grass Lake Road.

They were returning home July 6 as Cermak was riding piggy-back on Waszak's motorcycle. While traveling north on Route 59, Waszak stopped and waited for traffic to clear at the intersection of Grass Lake Road, where he wanted to turn left to get home less than a mile away.

Suddenly, a man driving a van wanted to avoid waiting for the stopped motorcycle by maneuvering around the bike, but the out-of-towner clipped the motorcycle, catapulting it into a car traveling in the opposite lane.

The van ended on its side, and the motorcycle was described as mangled like a "pretzel." The oncoming vehicle driven by Bridgett Bartels, 31, of Antioch, was also damaged.

Allen Otto, 52, of Elburn, Ill., faces a failure to reduce speed ticket at this time, while Waszak and Cermak faced death as there was no hope for revival at the scene.

"They were perfect for each other," said Jim Mihovilovich, a longtime friend of Waszak. "They talked about getting married and spending the rest of their lives together."

Friends said the happy couple began dating about a year and a half ago during Waszak's senior year in high school when Cermak was a sophomore. Both attended Antioch Community High School. Waszak graduated in 1995, but Cermak will never receive her high school diploma.

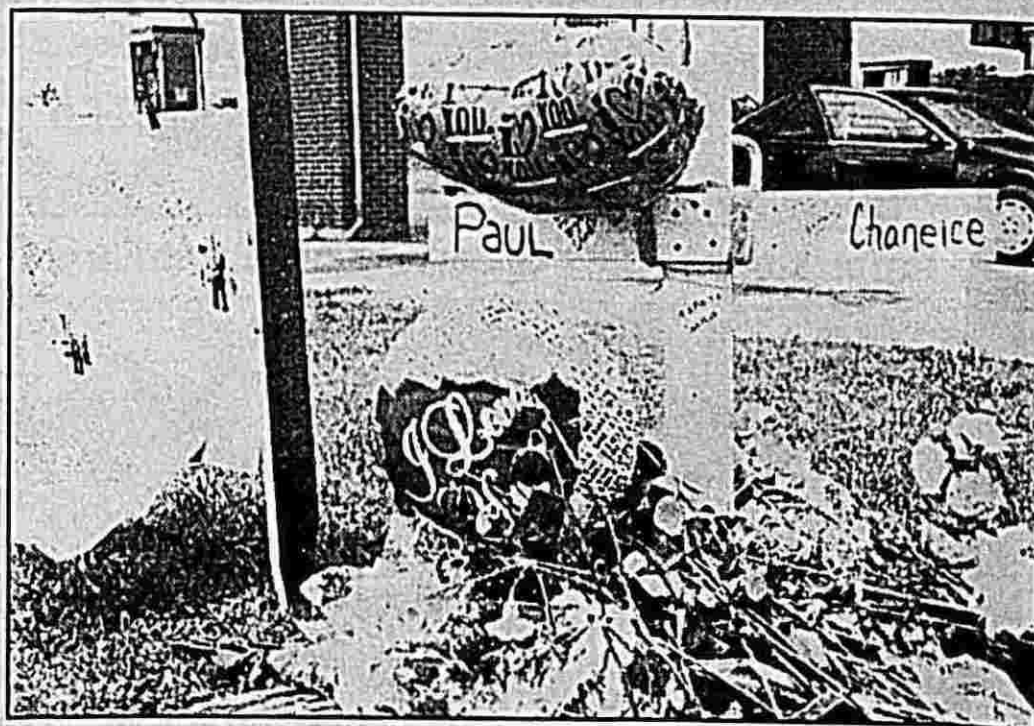

"She was really outgoing and a lot of fun," said Courtney Johnson, a friend of Cermak. "She said whatever she wanted to say whenever she wanted to say it."

Waszak, who helped run the family-owned business at Wasz's Resort on Channel Lake, enjoyed cars, especially his 1972 Chevelle.

"It was his pride and joy, next to Chaneice," said Mihovilovich, See TRAGEDY page A10

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

Mom can shop for the bargains. Dad can enjoy a cold microbrew, and the kids can play games or enjoy the thrills on carnival rides.

There will be something for everyone at the annual "Taste of Antioch" and "Maxwell Street Days" sidewalk sale downtown July 18-21.

"Family fun for everyone" is how Ed Cimaglio described the bigger and better event this year. Cimaglio is the president of the Chamber of Commerce which sponsors the Taste and Maxwell Street.

The event is longer this year by opening the entertainment earlier on "Blues" Thursday from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m.

"We're opening up on Thursday in the afternoon, which is new," Cimaglio noted.

He also pointed out that there will be three new restaurants added to this year's selection of 16 area restaurants to tease everyone's pallet. The kiddie rides and games area will be expanded, and new this year will be a microbrew tent, where brew lovers can experiment with different flavors of beer.

Toft Avenue will literally be packed with food and entertainment.

"This is about as big as we can get on this street," Cimaglio proudly boasted.

As for the microbrew tent, he said a number of brewpubs have expressed an interest in sponsoring the tent such as Mickey Finn's in Libertyville and State Street Brewery in Chicago. "We don't know who for sure yet," said Cimaglio.

Entertainment will be follow various themes on different days. The themes include "Blooze Thursday," "Country and Western Friday," "Rock and Roll Saturday," and "Concert in the Town Sunday."

"It's just going to be four days of jammed-pack fun,"

MAXWELL STREET

On the other side of downtown, Main Street will be a flurry of activity as the Maxwell Street Days sidewalk sales delight shoppers.

The event will also offer entertainment for children as well as moms and dads.

"We have a lot more merchants participating on the sidewalk sales," promised Barbara Porch of the chamber of commerce.

Shopping hours will be from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Thursday and Friday, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday, and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Sunday.

"We have quite a few new businesses with different products and selections," Porch noted.

New businesses include the Gift Basket, the Crafters Gallery, Old Tyme Deli, William Brothers Emporium, and the Betty Sills art gallery.

There will also be more than 20 other shops participating as well.

For kids there will be puppet shows, story telling, drama and kids crafts as well as face painting and coloring contests.

"There's always new things at Maxwell Street Days," Porch said of the added entertainment this year.

There will also be "Celtic Dancers," a crafts demonstration, and a tool demonstration for dads sponsored by True Value.

The Taste of Antioch and Maxwell Street Days will offer four days of food, shopping, great savings, entertainment, and plenty of fun.

TINA L. SWIECH
Staff Reporter

Wetlands which have been lost over time can once again be haven for wildlife, if a pilot test project works.

Fox Waterway Agency officials are excited about a geotextile fabric tube being constructed at a channel in Pistakee Lake. Not only will it help aid the environment, but better water quality will be created as well as a berm or breakwater.

The concept of geotextile fabric tubes were first developed in Europe in the Netherlands region. Now the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the Waterway Agency have been working together to put the first project in the Chain O' Lakes—the first ever in an inland lake setting.

Previous applications in southern states in the U.S. and Europe have been filled with sand.

The Waterway Agency placed a 140 foot long, 30 foot circumference tube at the Pistakee Lake Pleasant View Channel mouth in McHenry County. Currently crews are filling it in with dredged silt material taken from in and around the site.

When it is completely filled, it is expected to assume a "pillow" shape around 12 feet wide and 6 feet high. Between 28 and 35 truckloads of silt will be used to fill in the tube which is made of a woven polyester material, similar to a trampoline. It is expected to last 15 years.

The inside of the circular donut-shaped tube will be filled with remaining silt. Before long, aquatic plant life is to sprout. On a tour given by the Fox Waterway Agency, Chairman Dr. William Dam pointed out some tiny green plants already peeking through the material.

The project is tedious, and the Agency must follow a number of steps, explain officials. For instance during the fill portion of the project, water leaving the bag must be cleaner than that going into the tube, according to state water quality laws.

If this test project is a success, the Waterway Agency has plans to expand the tubes to other areas of the Chain O' Lakes where wetlands have been lost over 40 years due to erosion. Geotextile tube islands as large as 50-acres in size could be built in Grass, Nippersink and Pistakee Lakes, providing capacity for as much as 30 years of dredge material.

The area where the test bag is now, was formerly a 50-acre wetland, explained Karen Kabbes, Agency executive director.

Bryan Patterson, Pleasant View Channel resident is grateful the project is underway. Before the channel was dredged, Patterson's boat and those of others couldn't easily get through the area. "I was ready to put a 'For Sale' sign up," said Patterson.

The current old wooden boards used as a breakwater "just doesn't cut it," said Patterson. "We wondered what would happen if we didn't do anything," he added.

Patterson and his wife, Barbara, were instrumental in organizing the neighborhood to work together and come up with funding for trucking of the silt dredged from the channel.

The group first met in January at Patterson's home where they began their plight of assisting with the project. Residents Ken VanHorn, Judy Anderson, Joanne Boetin and Sue Katz were instrumental as well.

"We've been waiting a long time for this," said a smiling Patterson as he looked out over the channel.

Dr. Dam gave special thanks not only to the residents, but to Agency directors Bruce Bossow and Ron Baker who traveled to Vicksburg, Miss. to learn of the geotextile tube project at U.S. Army Corps of Engineers headquarters.

Directors Marshall Lowe and Wayne Blake were also cited by Dam as co-chairman of the dredging committee, as well as Karen Kabbes, executive director of the Agency.

"Technology will allow us to restore valuable wetlands and address our dredging needs, saving millions of dollars at the same time," said Dam.

Airstrip for personal use, not for commercial planes

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

Antioch residents shouldn't fret about loud airplanes flying over head.

A legal notice published in Lakeland Newspapers generated a number of calls about a possible airport being built in far western Antioch Township.

Not to worry.

The grassy airstrip the legal notice refers to has been in existence for quite some time and has only been used for private use.

"It's just a grass landing strip used by one individual," emphasized John Petschelt, who owns the airstrip for private use. "It's been there for eight years."

Dispelling fears about other strips, Petschelt said his landing strip has been the only one built in the area. There are no plans to build subdivisions that cater to air commuters like those seen near Lake Geneva, Wis.

"None of my neighbors have ever complained," Petschelt insisted. "We've been peacefully co-existing for a long time."

The Illinois Department of Transportation requires periodic legal notices, according to Dorothy Negangard of IDOT's aviation division.

"It's not open to the public by any means," Negangard said. "The landing strip is strictly for the owner and invited guests."

She said the airstrip is restricted to 2,200 feet and it met all the airspace requirements of the Federal Aviation Administration.

She said the phrasing of "Midland Airport," which was used in the legal notice, is a term used by IDOT to classify private airstrips.

She also noted that airstrips are quite common in rural, country settings throughout the state.

"You can go just about anywhere in Illinois and find an airstrip," Negangard said.

As for Petschelt, he just wants to continue being a good neighbor and fly his airplane when he gets the chance.

"O'Hare is not coming to Antioch," he mused.

Specialist offers tips to resist peer pressure

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

Saying "No" to peer pressure isn't as easy as it sounds.

Peer pressure for young people can range from simple mischief, such as making phony phone calls, to downright danger, such as playing on construction sites, drinking alcohol or using drugs.

Through a program titled "How to Help Your Child Make Good Choices," Prevention Specialist Linda Kurtzman of Aptakisic Tripp School District 102 shared some techniques recently to deflect dares or to avoid forbidden activities.

To avoid getting in trouble, Kurtzman suggested:

- Check out the scene. Look and listen to what's happening;

- Act quickly to avoid trouble;
- Make a good decision. Weigh both sides, and decide to stop or go.

Specific actions young people can take to avoid peer pressure include:

- Saying "No."
- Leaving the scene;
- Ignoring the request or dare;
- Making a joke;
- Coming up with a better idea;

For parents, Kurtzman offered several tips in setting loving limits. They include:

- Making an honest excuse, which might include blaming a parent or a prior commitment;
- Returning the dare;
- Telling an adult.

Change misbehavior by setting positive goals;

- Say what you mean and mean what you say;

- Involve your children in solving problems;

- Set clear and simple rules and expectations, and develop positive consequences when rules are followed;

- Ask what happened to cause the misbehavior;

- Talk less; listen more;

- Give choices;

- Help your children to focus on their strengths;

- Let your love show through to strengthen your behavior.

LAKE VILLA

No Drivers License

A juvenile, 14, of Round Lake Beach was arrested on July 3. He committed a stop sign violation and was found to not have a valid drivers license. The car was impounded and the driver was released on bail to the custody of his mother. He will appear in court Aug. 14 in Grayslake.

Hanging over bridge

A juvenile, 16, was charged July 3 for violation of curfew when found by police on the Route 83 bridge south of Petite Lake Road. The offender was hanging over the bridge and had arms wounds that were bleeding. The boy confessed to drinking beer and has a court date of Aug. 14 in Grayslake.

LINDENHURST

Theft from car

A resident in the 400 block of Shagbark, Lindenhurst, reported the theft of $350 worth of stereo equipment from a Chevy Camaro on July 5. The car was left unlocked. Missing are an Alpine AM/FM cassette car stereo, two 12 inch Urban speakers and an amplifier. There were no prints found at the scene.

Fireworks not tolerated

Antioch police responded and arrested several individuals for violating a village ordinance which prohibits discharging fireworks.

On July 6, police responded to Timber Lane, where there were reports of loud, M-80-type fireworks being ignited. Police arrested Mark Davidson, 27, of Antioch, and charged him for illegal discharge of fireworks. Police found Davidson in his backyard in possession of 25 firecrackers and 12 bottle rockets. He also admitted to firing several M-80s. The remaining fireworks were confiscated and will appear in Grayslake court Aug. 8.

On July 7, police observed an offender ignite 40 to 50 firecrackers while transporting another prisoner to the police department. Another police officer arrived on the scene and arrested Donald Galloway, 40, of Antioch, for illegal discharge of explosive fireworks. He told police he was just having a good time. He will appear in Grayslake court Aug. 14.

While walking through Continental Park July 7 for crowd control during the village-sponsored fireworks display, police observed Jeffrey Fisher, 21, of Spring Grove, ignite a large firecracker device and throw it in a grass field. Police later found several other explosive devices on Fisher. He was charged with illegal discharge of explosive fireworks. Fisher said, "My lawyer will handle this." He will appear in Grayslake court Aug. 14.

Fatal intersection attracts priority

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

A deadly tragedy at the intersection of Route 59 and Grass Lake Road between Antioch and Lake Villa has at least two local politicians seeking ways to speed up improvement plans there.

Two Antioch teens, Chaneice Cermak, 17, and Paul Waszak Jr., 19, died after their motorcycle was struck from behind and pushed into another car's path.

According to reports from the Lake County Sheriff's Department, Allen Otto, 52, of Elburn, Ill., was driving his van north on Rte. 59 when he hit the motorcycle which was stopped at the traffic light and waiting to turn left onto Grass Lake Road. The motorcycle sailed into another car traveling south on Rte. 59.

Waszak and Cermak were pronounced dead at the scene. Waszak graduated from Antioch Community High School in 1995, and Cermak would have been a senior this fall.

"My heart goes out to the families," said Judy Martini, the County Board member representing Antioch.

Martini noted that the intersection has a "high ratio" of accidents because there are no turning lanes and no turning arrows on the traffic-control lights.

Lakeland Newspapers is waiting for an accident count from the sheriff's department at that intersection over the last five years.

This was the first fatal accident since before 1990.

"There have been no fatal accidents at that intersection since prior to 1990, so the fatality count at that intersection is zero in the last five years," said Sergeant Steve Bjorkquist of the sheriff's department.

Martini explained that the common accident scenario is a car trying to bypass another car stopped at the light waiting to turn left. She also pointed out that the growth of the Antioch, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst communities has led to increased traffic at the intersection.

Also, summer boaters and resorters heading to the Chain of Lakes add to the traffic in the area as well.

"We want turning lanes and we want turning arrows," Martini said.

She was instrumental in getting the intersection inserted onto the Illinois Department of Transportation's five-year highway improvement plan.

Martin Buehler, director of the Lake County Division of Transportation, said the intersection is an IDOT project and Lake County will assist, but no construction dates have been scheduled yet.

State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) said she would use her influence to help expedite improvement plans at Rte. 59 and Grass Lake Road.

The state senator who represents northwestern Lake County was instrumental in expediting a temporary signal at Sand Lake Road and Route 45, near Lindenhurst. She also helped get state funding to improve deadly and accident-prone sections of Route 41 in Gurnee and Wadsworth.

"I am shocked and troubled at the loss of life of those two young people," said Geo-Karis, referring to the Antioch tragedy. "I am going to do whatever I can to avoid further loss of life."

Geo-Karis said she will contact state engineers to determine what could be done to foster the improvement process at Grass Lake Road and Route 59.

"I will certainly do whatever I can," Geo-Karis stressed.

Martini said she would appreciate any assistance from Geo-Karis to make the intersection a top priority of the state.

In the meantime, mourning friends placed a cross and wreath at the intersection in memory of Cermak and Waszak and to remind motorists to take heed when traveling through the intersection.

It's one of those family events

July is national family vacation month. This is the month that parents around the country feel compelled to pack up the kids in the mini-van and head off to some national park or swanky resort for a week of family fun and togetherness (pardon my choking.) Any family vacation which includes an automobile has to start with the normal, good old fashion, knock-down drag out battle about who gets the window seat, who gets stuck next to Aunt Edna, and who has to hold the family dog on their lap.

Today's kids have an easier, more enjoyable means of entertaining themselves while the family van journey's to its destination. With hand-held video games, battery operated TV/VCRs and lap top computers, the possibilities for diversion are limitless, unlike the previous generation who were subjected to dad's non filtered Lucky Strikes and mom's off-key voice singing endless verses of If I Had A Hammer and Kum Ba Ya. Dad always carried a supply of toothpicks and mom never left home without her Expense Log.

This was nothing more than a little notebook in which she annotated, to the penny, every expense incurred on vacation. The price of gas, the amount of tolls paid and who had what for lunch and how much it cost. Now a days the credit card bill at the end of the month is most vacationers Expense Log and often we wonder what the heck we bought at the rest stop in Paducah that cost $93.27.

Yesterday's mom use to pin the hard earned vacation money in her bra. In this day and age moms have ATM cards with long PIN numbers for the safekeeping of their vacation funds. Unfortunately once these funds are exhausted there is a tendency to drift over into the money set aside for utility bills and mortgage payments. In our younger years parents would never dream of stopping off for the night at a hotel. Dad would drive until he got tired then mom would drive while he slept. The kids were left to sleep in whatever nook or cran-

The drive continues past rolling farm fields, suburban developments, city sky lines and Historical Markers. Do you ever wonder who really stops at these monuments and captures the historical event that took place on the dirt beneath their feet. Have you ever witnessed anyone stopped at these niches in the road other than families traveling with family pets and their personalized pooper scooper? And tell me what government official got the plush job of driving around on our nations highways deeming hunk of land worthy of "historical" status?

Finally, oh finally, after three days in the car, your intended destination has been reached. Everyone jumps out of the vehicle, gazes out over the never-seen-before scenery, absorbs the newly risen sun on their upturned face, breathes deeply the fresh summer air, and fully extends and stretches their cramped limbs. After a few minutes of new found freedom, dad whistles, make a waving gesture with his arm, hollers "Load 'em up" and you return to the car for your three day ride back home-summer vacation at its best.

In this modern day, summer vacations are much more refreshing. The limo picks you up at your door step and deposits you directly in front of the airport terminal. The airplane whisks you away to your appointed paradise, and the hotel of your choice shuttles you to your suite of rooms in their air-conditioned 12 passenger van. You frolic, relax, order room service, and bask in the sun for a glorious eight days.

Then, spend the next 12 months paying off those glorious eight days—oh the American way.

ny they could find to call their own-seat belts weren't mandatory. It may have made traveling more dangerous but it certainly make it a lot more tranquil.

On these road trips breakfast consisted of cereal in a foil-lined box soaking in powdered milk mixed up with rusty water from the rest area pump. Now a days with Motel 6 and Days Inn beckoning from every expressway exit, over night stays in hotels are common place complete with their continental breakfast of coffee, doughnuts, cereal, juice and ice cold milk. Remember when gas stops rendered an oil check, windshields washed and a tank filled by a friendly hometown gas attendant who also served as the unofficial local tourist expert.

Today's dad gets out and pumps his own gas while mom make a feeble attempt to wash the bug splattered windshield with a squeegee soaking in filthy dirty water. It never fails, dad spills gas on his hands and reeks for the next 200 miles, and mom accomplishes nothing but smearing bug juice over the entire front window-the conversation that fol-

Corporations sponsor Global Games for Afterschool Club

The Afterschool Club® has been a child care provider for Work/Family Directions for the past four years. They work very closely with the corporations that participate in this. The Afterschool Club® is a participant in this Work/Family Directions Project. On July 3, all seven Summer Camp Sites came together for a day of Global Games at the Grayslake Campsite. Campers came from all communities in the northern part of Lake County.

In an effort to capitalize on the excitement generated by the Olympics games, 81 summer camps across the country serving total of 10,000 school-age children will offer a special program focusing on multi-cultural activities.

Some of the largest corporations in the nation are investing a total of $629,000 to fund the initiative—Global Games—as a means to strengthen the quality of summer camps in selected communities where their employees live and work.

"Creating and supporting high quality summer programs meets a real, business need as it enables employees to focus on their jobs instead of worrying about whether their children are physically and emotionally safe," said Betsy Lipson of Work/Family Directions.

Lipson, the project developer, said the program will play on heightened interest in cultures and countries by integrating learning with athletics.

Children will learn about national cultures and customs through a specially-designed curriculum on themes ranging from games people play around the world to international recipes.

Some 10,000 boys and girls from 5f to 12 years are expected to participate in the Global Games project funded by the companies as part of the American Business Collaboration for Quality Dependent Care.

The Collaboration is a national effort headed by 21 corporations which are investing more than $100 million to enhance the quality and expand the availability of child care and elder care programs in 56 cities.

Global Games will take place in summer camps in Atlanta, Chicago, New Jersey, Northern Colorado, Oklahoma City, Raleigh-Durham, Rochester, MN, Rochester, NY, and Tampa.

Corporations participating in the project are Allstate, AT&T, Amoco, Bank of America, Bausch & Lomb, Eastman Kodak, Exxon, GE Capital Services, Hewlett-Packard, IBM, Johnson & Johnson, and Xerox.

The curriculum and teacher training program for Global Games was developed by Work/Family Directions, a leading provider of work-life consultation, research, and referral programs for corporations.

First Chicago Coloring Contest celebrate Maxwell Street Days

The First National Bank of Chicago's Antioch branch is once again celebrating Maxwell Street Days and Taste of Antioch, July 18 to 20, with its annual coloring contest for children 12 and under.

This year's illustration features Disney's Pocahontas and John Smith.

Participants in the contest will have a chance at a random drawing for such prizes as a brand new Schwinn Bicycle, courtesy of First Chicago and Antioch Schwinn Cyclery; a $50 dollar gift certificate to BJ's Sporting Center, courtesy of the Advertiser; and a year's supply of cereal, courtesy of the Antioch Jewel Foods.

"We enjoy being a part of community and helping to bring friends and family together for a celebration like this," said Jeff Mulder, president of First Chicago's Antioch Branch. "The kids enjoy themselves and have chance to win some great prizes."

Contest winners will be contacted by phone. Parents of children 12 and under can pick up an entry form at the First Chicago branch, Jewel Food Store in Antioch, Antioch Schwinn Cyclery or look in their July 17 Advertiser newspaper. All entries must be returned by July 20 to the First Chicago Antioch branch, 425 E. Lake St.

First Chicago is a subsidiary of First Chicago NBD Corporation, the nation's 7th largest bank holding company with assets of about $115.5 billion. It is the Midwest's number one provider of financial services to consumers, middle market companies and large corporate customers.

Youth wins in State 4-H Animal Science Judging

Christopher Smith of Antioch received a Blue rating in the animal science events at the State 4-H Judging Contest, at the University of Illinois, announced Susan Soukup, Extension Unit Educator.

Smith placed third out of 125 contestants in the area of Dairy Judging.

More than 600 4-H'ers from 20 countries judged classes of livestock, poultry, meats, horses and dairy cattle, according to Amanda Coyle, University of Illinois Extension Assistant, 4-H and youth. Contest participants were rated blue, red or white according to their judging performance.

In the 4-H judging competitions, youngsters learn to measure quality by making comparisons against a standard, said Coyle.

In dairy judging, the members must rate the cows according to appearance and select the heifers they feel will be the best milk producers in the future.

In making these judgements, the members must know which characteristics to look for in each breed of animal and in different stages of animal development.

Banker Miles wins CAN's $10,000 prize

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

A local big shot, community do-gooder and model citizen—not to mention bank president—is now $10,000 richer.

Randy Miles, president of State Bank of the Lakes, won the "Big Bucks Bonanza" raffle sponsored by Community Action Now. The drawing was held just prior to the fireworks July 7.

CAN member Barbara Porch said the raffle was a successful fund-raiser in which the proceeds will benefit improvements to Antioch's downtown business district.

There were also 10 fortunate winners of the $200 prizes. They included:

- John Dupree of Antioch;
- Larrie Mondie, proprietor of Baskin Robbins and Dunkin Donuts;
- George and Ruth LeMere of Antioch;
- James Smith of Ingleside;
- Rick Kubica, proprietor of Antioch Schwinn, and Ron Kondarorous;

- Don Marski, manager of Ben Franklin;
- Bob O'Neill of Ingleside;
- Chris Katris, proprietor of Las Vegas Restaurant;
- John Horak of Lake Villa;
- Brian Gapinski and Terry Pearsall of Kenosha, Wis.

"As you can see we had a lot of local support," Porch noted of the winners who happened to be business owners in Antioch.

She said the proceeds from the fund-raiser will help CAN install three shopper guides downtown. The guides will serve as "You Are Here" maps leading prospective shoppers to the various stores, restaurants and services offered downtown.

Porch also said money from the raffle will be earmarked to help develop the wetlands restoration project and park being planned along Skidmore Drive.

"We will be very involved on the development of the east side of Main Street," Porch said. "It's always better to have money saved for a project than scrambling at the last minute to raise money."

Attendance

Not only do students learn more by being in school more, but the overall performance of the school also improves.

It also means more state dollars for the school district.

One of the goals of the new administration led by Superintendent Dennis Hockney and Principal Susan Mullendore is to reach a 95 percent or better average daily attendance.

"One of the constants for excellence in high schools was an attendance better than 95 percent," explained Jodee Culberson, assistant principal who spearheaded this year's attendance drive.

The top schools in Lake County including Libertyville High School, Stevenson High School and Lake Forest High School all have average daily attendance rates higher than 95 percent.

"Quite simply, the more you're in school, the more you learn," said Culberson, who instituted an incentive program to encourage attendance. Discount cards, good at many local businesses, were given to students with perfect attendance in each quarter.

But the big focus this year was the crackdown of truants or those with many unexcused absences.

"The best news is there was a 68 percent decrease in unexcused absences this year," Culberson pointed out.

The administration spent approximately $100 on loud, obnoxious alarm clocks to give to students who could not get out of bed in time. Many truly had a problem sleeping through their alarms.

"The alarm clock program was very successful for some students," Culberson said. "It gave us an opportunity to discuss the problem with the student, parents and administration."

Many critics in the community blasted the administration for spending the money on alarm clocks.

The $100 investment paid some handsome dividends, however. Business Manager Bill Ahlers explained: The district could receive between $13,000 and $15,000 in additional revenue from the state for the improved average daily attendance.

"That's $13,000 that I didn't have yesterday," said Ahlers, the district's budget cruncher. "That buys a lot of text books or half a teacher."

He added, "We spent about $100 getting $13,000, plus we're getting a better product with the kids."

With a 95 percent average daily attendance or better goal on the horizon, the school stands to produce even better students and add more money to the district purse.

Tragedy

who graduated with Waszak's younger brother, Brian, last month.

The two became inseparable as their relationship grew together, friends said of Waszak and Cermak.

"They were always together. They liked the same things," said Kelley Brausam, who became "best friends" with Cermak.

Brausam said she will miss shopping with Cermak for shirts and shoes at Kohls and playing a card game called "Phase 10."

"She was just fun-loving, and she laughed at everything," Brausam said of Cermak.

The same held true for Waszak. "He was quiet, but always funny," Mihovilovich said.

Marie Brausam, mother of Kelley, gave a parental perspective of Waszak and Cermak.

"She laughed all the time. She laughed at everything I said," Mrs. Brausam said. "Paul was always very polite and courteous—definitely a gentleman."

Brausam recalled the time when Waszak asked Mrs. Brausam for a paper towel to clean up some oil that had leaked from his car onto her driveway.

"How many adults would even do that?" Brausam wondered.

Joint funeral services were held at St. Peter's Church earlier this week as many family members and friends paid their respects.

Waszak is survived by his parents, Paul and Juanita; two brothers, Brian and Scott; and his parental grandparents.

Cermak is survived by her parents, Joseph and Mary Jo Cermak; three sisters, Janene, Julia and Jenna; and her maternal and paternal grandparents.

The First National Bank of Antioch established a trust fund in memory of Cermak. Contributions will help defray the cost of the funeral services.

"Where Chaneice went, Paul went, and vice versus," Brausam said. "They both were nice kids."

Demo derby seeks drivers

Drivers are being sought to slug it out for the third
Mini-Car Figure 8
Demolition Derby at the Lake County Fair.

Daredevils will master the curves of a track shaped in a
no-mercy—especially in the center of the figure 8 where competing cars will meet.

"To enter the event the car must be a 4-cylinder with a 104 inches wheel base or less," said George Sims, of Auto Race Promotions, Inc.
The company has ran the Lake County event for the past 20 years. The edition of a concrete wall in the rodeo arena has made the compact car event possible.

Drivers must be 16 years or older to compete. Drivers under 18 years must have a parental consent form signed a Pit Gate.

Sims says the mini-car figure 8 event promises to be loud and exciting.

The Mini-Car Figure 8 Demolition Derby will be held Wednesday, July 24. Car check-in begins at 2 p.m.
Andy running car can complete in the event.

The field is limited to first 36 cars.

Rules and entry blanks can be obtained from Mary Gunia at the Lake County Fair Office or by calling 223-2204.

Vikes gear up for another banner semi-pro year

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

In these heady days of mid July, optimism springs eternal at semipro football training camps throughout the Midwest.

Such is the case for the Lake County
Vikings. The team is defending Midwest Football League champs and with many players back, expectations are rising each Tuesday practice at Round Lake High.

"We have had 40 guys here on average," coach Russ Kraly said Tuesday, the first night of hitting.

All told, some 75 football players age 18 and over are expected to seek positions with the Vikings, which are in their ninth year.

The coaching staff is almost all returning with an addition. Former player Joe Belcher will guide the special teams.

Adam Tesch is back to QB the Vikings'; multiple look. Brothers Walter and Luke are expected to be among the running backs vying for time. "Luke is in great shape," Kraly said.

Chris Jackson, a former Milwaukee Express player, Reggie Lawrence and John Rangel are also penned in as backfield potential.

"I want to be able to platoon our running backs this year," Kraly said.

Kraly was named coach-of-the-year in 1995 for guiding the Vikings to an 11-win season, the best in club history. Half the team was named all-MFL.

"We only had two injuries last year and they happened early in the season. If we stay healthy, we could go undefeated," Kraly said.

He is always quick to give credit to the players. "They did the job. The players make you look good. We tell them like it is. If they are good enough to start we tell them. If they are not, we tell them too. But we try and get everybody into the games," he said.

The three-game exhibition slate begins
July 21 when the Vikings host Midway Jets.
The 10 a.m. game, like all home games, will be at Round Lake High.

Other exhibition games are slated for July 27 against Windy City Rams and Aug. 3 against the Chicago Panthers. Both are 6 p.m. starts.

Then it begins for real Aug. 10 at 4 p.m. at Indiana Wolverines.

Midway Jets are the first regular season home game Aug. 17 at 6 p.m.

New or newly combined MFL teams are Springfield, Chicago Apaches, Indiana
Wolverines and Hammond.

Triathlete Doetsch keeps swimming career going

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Some seven years ago, Julie Doetsch wanted to continue her swimming career.

Her collegiate career at Lake Forest College was over and she found challenges hard to come by. That is until someone mentioned the growing event called a triathlon to her.

"I was looking for events, for competition and the triathlon appealed to me. I competed in my first triathlon in Niles, Mich.

On July 14, she plans to join an expected field of 4,000 other triathletes in the 14th annual Mrs. T's Triathlon in Chicago.

She competes in five to six triathlons a year all over the Midwest. "You could compete in one a weekend," she said.

She belongs to the triathlon club Tri-Women, based in Chicago. In fact, she serves as the group's swim coach.

"Most people say swimming is the hardest part. But for me, it is bicycling. Everybody passes me on the bikes," Doetsch said.

The former sprint and freestyle swimmer at Lake Forest College clocked approximately a three hour course last year. Buoyed by friends and family, she hopes to better that along the Olympic (longer) course come Sunday at 6:30 a.m.

"I am not planning to stay over this year, so I will have to leave at 4:30 a.m.," she said.

Her training schedule decreases the final week. She plans to, like most athletes, "load up" on carbohydrates the last few meals. "I eat a healthy diet with a lot of fruits and vegetables," she said.

She described the Mrs. T's event as well-run. Pre-race seminars are held July 12 and 13.

Lake Villa Colts gain split

The Lake Villa Colts out-executed Waukegan III in a slugfest but lost a battle with their close rivals in Mike's Memorial action.

The Lake Villa team beat Waukegan III 12-8 but lost to Antioch 6-0.

Mike Ferger led the offense with a 4-of-6 day while Brian Davis was 2-of-5 and Ryan Betusak was 3-of-6.

9-10 year olds lead Waves

The Antioch Waves Swim Team lost to the McHenry II Swim team Tuesday July 2, 412-174. The 9-10 boys and girls medley relay teams led the meet opening with first place finishes. The girls team was Elora Jares, Kelly Swehla, Katie Ihlen, and Kamrin Oliver; the boys team was Andrew Farrell, Tony Carr, Taylor Pechauer, and Patrick Quane. Leading the Waves in freestyle events were Andrew Farrell, Kaitlyn
Ament, and Katie Comstock. Backstroke leaders were Casey
Clark, Kimberly Meyer, and Kris Vanderkooy. Tony Carr placed first in the butterfly event.

The 8 and under girls freestyle relay team of Alexis Pardee, Andrea Grzybowski, Alyssa Ament, and Catherine Eschbach, along with the 11-12 girls freestyle relay team of Joie Gaffrig, Heather Zeman, Courtney Willding, and Kimberly Meyer led the closing events of the meet.

EARLY RHEUMATOID ARTHRITIS

In its later stages, rheumatoid arthritis (RA) of the feet can be a major cause of crippling. But when it is detected early, the symptoms of RA can be relieved by conservative treatment. Your podiatrist can detect RA of the feet early in its course by gently putting pressure across the tops of certain joints - a test that is painless in persons with normal feet.

Another early warning is the so-called "daylight sign," when swelling around joints pushes the toes apart and makes the foot wider, so one can "see daylight" between the toes.

At this stage, patients may find that they need shoes two sizes wider and one size longer than usual. Other than this, there are few signs of arthritis, even on X-ray films.

Regular podiatric exams can help discover foot problems early enough so they'll respond to conservative treatment.

Franas ready, able to cheer for Huskies

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

It was one anxious time for Kara Franas.

"The waiting was the hardest part," Franas said.

Some two weeks after trying out for the Northern Illinois University cheerleading team, Franas was informed she made the select group. Of 120 incoming freshmen who tried out, eight were selected.

"It is a lot different in college cheerleading than high school. We practice six to seven hours a day instead of one or two," Franas said.

The "We" has changed from the Rams to the Huskies. Franas will be able to cheer both at football and basketball games.

The Huskies, NCAA basketball tourney qualifiers a year ago, are also strong in cheerleading. The squad, coached by Derrick Ramel, placed sixth and eighth in national meets.

Franas was a captain for cheerleading under the direction of several coaches. These include: Anita Miller, Shelly Hubert, Chris Bocci, Courtney Harris and Tracy Leuder. She was also on the track and cross country teams.

Franas will major in education at the DeKalb university. The Grayslake High grad already works with a 9-year old, helping her to communicate in even the most basic forms.

"It is different. You are used to communicating with people who understand what you are talking about. We take those sort of things for granted," Franas said.

Franas will be hard pressed to stay as active as she was as a Ram. She won 12 letters as she was a three-sport athlete all four years. She won the principal's award, was in leadership position in the student council and a National Honor Society member. A student-of-the-month winner from the Grayslake Exchange Club, she was first runner-up in this summer's Miss Grayslake contest.

"She enjoys all the sports and competing," Dan Franas, her father, said.

Antioch Colt Travelers Down Grant and Lake Villa

The Antioch Colt Travelers (9 and 4) started the Fourth of July weekend off with a bang with a 9 to 7 victory over Grant. Antioch scored 9 runs in the first 3 innings in what looked to be a breeze, but Grant made things interesting in the bottom of the 7th.

After chipping away at the Antioch lead, Grant had the winning run on 1st, bases loaded and no outs. Antioch's Ken Cichon pitched well until the 6th, when Coach Lee Clutts brought in Karl Richter in relief. The Antioch Coach then went to Brandon Clutts to put out the fire, in what turned out to be a key move.

A grounder to 2nd baseman, John Logan who fired to catcher Ryan Clutts to get the force at home produced out number one. Clutts then got the next Grant batter to fan for the second out, and the third batter grounded out to preserve the win for Antioch. Antioch third baseman Sean Cerney had several key defensive plays, and two hits each to spark the Antioch offense. Antioch's outfield of Dan Shaughnessy, Ray George, and Brad Marchildon came up big on defense to help in the win.

Antioch downed rival Lake Villa in a Fourth of July clash 6 to 0. Karl Richter pitched the shutout for Antioch allowing 8 hits in going the distance. Antioch's outfield (Dan Shaughnessy, Ray George, Mark Maicke, Brad Marchildon, and Ken Cichon) came up with excellent defensive plays to hold down Lake Villa.

Ryan Clutts turned in some "big league" plays at shortstop to lead Antioch on defense. Sean Cerney, John Logan, Tom Baird, and Dan Shaughnessy, chipped in two hits each to lead Antioch's offensive effort. With their remaining July schedule, and several June rainouts to be played the Antioch Colts can look forward to a lot of July and August Baseball to be played at the A.C.H.S. home field.

Skaters compete at regionals

A group of area roller skaters qualified for the national meet when they advanced through a regional competition.

The group of five roller skaters qualified in a meet held in Cincinnati.

Matt Hancock, age 13 of Round Lake; Jeff Pendergast, age
 16, of Lake Villa; Bill Long, age 20, of Round Lake and Carol Purol of Round Lake all qualified. Purol gained regional champion honors in the 27-30 age group.

"You are always hopeful, but we had not competed against Indiana and Ohio skaters," Tom Mueller, coordinator, said.

He said the courses are broken down into adult and youth.
 The course for youngster skaters is 500 meters while the course for older skaters is 1,000 meters. The race in Cincinnati was sponsored by the United States Amateur Confederation.

"The adult race is longer - it is based on a motorcross course,"
 Mueller said.

The national meet is at Lincoln, Neb. in August.

The group totals 13 skaters and meets for an hour Wednesdays and Thursdays and two hours on Sundays.

Mueller said there is not many major injuries in the sport, as participants all wear helmets.

Linden Plaza Variety

Welcome to Linden Plaza Variety, a family store dedicated to the needs of the community. Linden Plaza Variety opened its doors in late November, after the closing of the Ben Franklin.

Here you will find all your everyday needs competitively priced, as well as unusual items not carried in the large stores. "We are exceptionally proud of our candy, toy, school and seasonal departments. you can find 5¢ candies as well as pools and fans," owner Ray Aske said. "We are now gearing up for a big Back-To-School season, then Halloween," Aske continued.

The store can make a go of it with the community's support. It's a convenient place to shop in the Linden Plaza. The store is always adding in new merchandise and has room for expansion. Currently the store is looking for a Pharmacy to add to its assortment.

Stop by during the Sidewalk Sale and pick up some bargains. Get acquainted to what the variety store offers and shop Lindenhurst first.

The Linden Plaza Variety is open Monday through Friday, 9:00 a.m. to 8:30 p.m.; Saturday, 9:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.; Sunday, 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Phone: (847) 356-2989. Fax: (847) 356-2687.

Antique boat show to make waves in Pistakee Bay

AMANDA MILLER
Staff Reporter

Boating enthusiasts and spectators alike will enjoy the 12th annual Antique and Wooden Boat Show July 13 in Pistakee Bay, Fox Lake.

"The boats that are shown are really interesting and very collectable," said Gloria Vanderborg Moats of the Blackhawk Chapter of the Antique and Classic Boat Society.

The boating event is sponsored by the society. There is currently an all time high of 70 members in the Society. The Antique and Classic Boat Society has chapters all over the United States.

Moats has been active in the Society for two years and has been boating since she was 8 years old. Now, she is in the middle of restoring her 1955 Chris Craft Boat. Moats is in favor of try to preserve these classic and antiques at all costs.

"We need to learn how to preserve these boats ... it's very important," stated Moats.

The boats in the show will participate in a display, a voting and trophy presentation, a parade review and a water rally.

The first event that will take place at the show is the display. At the King's Cove Restaurant, formerly known as Capo's Cove Restaurant, the boats will be displayed with plers that encircle the boat to give viewers a better look. The display will begin at 10 a.m.

The three judges this year are Larry Lange, Dean Morris and Jim Hastings, all of which are in the boating restoration industry. The judges will determine the boat by point value and many awards will be given out for the best in different divisions or classes of boats. The divisions range from the best cabin cruiser to the carp award, which is the worst looking boat. There is also a spectator's choice award in which the viewing public will get a chance to vote on their favorite entry. The trophy presentation begins at 2:30 p.m.

A water parade review will follow at 3 p.m. During the parade the skippers of the boats will lead the vessels into the Bay on their way to the water rally.

The water rally takes place immediately after the parade.

The skippers of each boat are given a packet of questions and they embark on a visual scavenger hunt taking them around the Pistakee Bay in a two hour loop.

The event will take place rain or shine and the admission is free for spectators.

The boats that qualify to be displayed are at least 25 years old and need to be vintage, classic or antique. Boat owners can register until the day of the show. Registration is $20.

Teens die, intersection work in plans

Rte. 59/Grass Lake upgrade in state's 5-year schedule

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

As the state waits to improve the intersection of Route 59 and Grass Lake Road, where two Antioch teens perished, friends have placed a cross and laid a wreath at the intersection in memory of their two friends.

The two teens, Chanelce Cermak, 17, and Paul Waszak Jr., 19, were pronounced dead at the scene July 6 after their motorcycle was struck from behind by a van and was thrown into a vehicle in the opposite lane.

According to Corporal Tom Braze of the Lake County Sheriff's Department, the van driver, Allen Otto, 52, of Elburn, Ill., was charged with failing to reduce speed to avoid an accident. Braze said there were no signs of drug or alcohol use by Otto at the scene.

"A blood sample was taken and will be taken to the crime lab to determine if drugs or alcohol were used," Braze said.

Braze said Cermak and Waszak were stopped on their motorcycle at the intersection of Route 59 and Grass Lake Road, waiting to turn left onto Grass Lake Road. Braze said Otto struck the vehicle as he tried to maneuver around the stopped motorcycle.

Braze said the impact from the van pushed the motorcycle into the opposite lane where it came in contact with a slow moving Hyundai.

The intersection lacks turning lanes and arrows on the traffic lights.

"During the summer, the population really swells in that area of the county. It certainly is an intersection to avoid," said Braze, who used to patrol northwestern Lake County and the Chain O' Lakes area, which grows in population during the summer.

Director, Lake County Department of Transportation

"In my opinion, it is an intersection the state should look at," Braze said.

According to the Sheriff's Records Division, this was the first fatal accident at that intersection since prior to 1990, although the intersection is a frequent accident scene.

Judy Martini, a county board member from Antioch, said she helped put the intersection on the state's five-year highway improvement program.

Martin Buehler, director of the Lake County Division of Transportation, confirmed that the intersection is part of the Illinois Department of Transportation's improvement program.

"It's an IDOT project," Buehler said. "We'll be participating in their project, but we don't know their schedule."

State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis said she would do whatever she could to expedite measures to improve the intersection.

Waszak is survived by his parents, Paul and Juanita; two brothers, Brian and Scott; and his paternal grandparents.

Cermak is survived by her parents, Joseph and Mary Jo; three sisters, Janene, Julia and Jenna; and both her maternal and paternal grandparents.

A trust fund was set up in Cermak's name at the First National Bank of Antioch to help defray the costs of the funeral. For more information, call 395-3111.

County logo goes back to committee for work

MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Staff Reporter

The much anticipated controversial vote on the new logo by the Lake County Board never materialized.

In a surprise move, the logo was referred back to the sign committee during the July 9 regular board meeting.

"They wimped," remarked District 6 Representative Larry Leafblad of Grayslake. "They knew they didn't have the votes."

'They wimped. They knew they didn't have the votes.'

— Larry Leafblad,
County Board Member Dist. 6

District 23 Representative Robert Buhai, a supporter of the proposed logo, disagreed with Leafblad.

"It was too controversial to go through with a tight vote," said Buhai. "I think it would've passed, the votes were there, but we need to take a look at the whole thing."

"The committee will look at the possibility of some alternatives, but we have to try and do that before the next board meeting," Buhai See LOGO page B2 admitted, noting the need for identifying marks such as the logo to be on many new items which are being constructed and purchased for the county building renovation project which is nearing completion.

"Obviously it needed work," said District 1 Representative Judy Martini, of Antioch, who has been opposed to the logo from the beginning. "It has been involved in a whole lot of controversy."

"In my opinion, the logo is a no go," Martini continued, suggesting a contest might have been a better way to go. "The proposed logo has no feeling. It's very graphic and cold. I couldn't be proud of that representing the county."

Lake County Public Information Officer Anne O'Connell expects the committee to reconvene to reconsider the logo and other recommendations within the next two weeks.

The next regular Lake County Board meeting is scheduled for 9 a.m. on Tuesday, Aug. 13.

County participates in trade show

In other county board action, David Aho, chairman of the economic development commission, presented a video report on Lake County's participation in a business trade show held April 29 through May 3 in Warrington, England.

The Lake County Chamber of Commerce and the Lake County Travel & Tourism Bureau, along with representatives from the Lake County Economic Development Department, attended the show.

Lake County was among a total of 540 exhibitors from 35 countries and 20 states who participated.

Aho termed the show "a resounding success" with the Warrington Council asking to form "a twining relationship" with Lake County to promote business growth between the two areas.

A group from Warrington is expected to visit Lake County during the fall.

WAUCONDA RODEO - JULY 12-14, 1996

Wauconda Rodeo runs July 12-14

The Wauconda Championship Rodeo gallops into town July 12-14.

"It is a good clean sport and it is a very exciting sport," said Thyr Latting, 63, rodeo producer.

The former bull rider is co-owner of Latting Productions, a company he founded 32 years ago in Robbins, Ill.

This year marks the 33rd consecutive year for the Wauconda Rodeo, sponsored by the Wauconda Chamber of Commerce, and is scheduled to offer as much excitement and thrills as ever before.

"It is a great opportunity for friends and family to get together and see a more unique event, one that does not come around too often," said Nancy Burton, chamber director.

"We expect approximately 7,000 people to attend for the weekend," she said.

Many world champion rodeo riders and top contenders for year-end titles are all planning to make their way to Wauconda the weekend of July 12, 13 and 14 at the Golden Oaks Equestrian Center at Route 12 and Case Road. Performances are at 8 p.m., July 12 and 13 and at 2 p.m. July 14.

"There will be close to 300 contestants," Latting said.

Latting said the Wauconda Rodeo has always been a favorite of the contestants for its amenities and its history.

Horseshoe tourney set

LAKE ZURICH—For those looking to get back to the old days when horses roamed the roads and the closest shopping center was the general store, an old fashioned horseshoe pitching tournament is being held. For the third time in three years, Bob Pancic of Echo Lake, an unincorporated area north of Lake Zurich, is opening up his backyard to all horseshoe throwing enthusiasts and wannabes July 13 at 1 p.m.

Pancic has built three horseshoe throwing pits in his backyard, and is holding a double elimination open tournament for teams of any skill level.

A fee of $15 provides all the food you can eat, beverages you can drink and horseshoes you can throw.

The tournament is sponsored by Pancic Classic Hair, a men's hair replacement company in Arlington Heights owned by Pancic's mother, Herta.

The tournament will be held at 23552 High Ridge Court west of Midlothian Road. For more information, contact Pancic at 540-8015.—by SPENCER SCHEIN

Rodeo ready to rumble

WAUCONDA—The rodeo is typically thought of as an historic event held when cowboys rode horses across the countryside and fields were aplenty.

This weekend marks the 33rd Annual Wauconda Championship Rodeo, featuring many top name and world champion riders from the International Professional Rodeo Association.

The rodeo will be held at the Golden Oaks Equestrian Center, at Route 12 and Case Road, at 8 p.m. July 12 and 13 and 3 p.m. on July 14. Admission is $10 for adults and $5 for children July 12 and 14, and $12 for adults and $6 for children on July 13. Parking is $3 per car.

The rodeo is sponsored by the Wauconda Chamber of Commerce, and is one of the stops on the Great Midwest Rodeo Tour.

Tickets will be sold at the gate and at the Wauconda Pharmacy and the Wauconda Car Wash.—by SPENCER SCHEIN

Round Lake celebrates safety

ROUND LAKE—Enjoy a colorful parade, experience a simulated rescue effort, and receive useful information at the first ever Round Lake Area Lake Management Organization Boating Safety Celebration.

The program is fashioned after one which took place on Lake Michigan this past spring. The event will be held Saturday, July 13 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Round Lake Beach Lakefront Park located along Lakeshore Drive.

Participants include the U.S. Coast Guard performing inspections on land and water throughout the day; an impressive simulated air and water rescue at 1 p.m.; boat parade at 3 p.m. featuring a pontoon boat leading the way with village officials and Miss Round Lake, Janice McGuire.

Other boats who pass the Coast Guard inspections will follow. There will be representatives offering information from the Greater Round Lake Fire Protection District Unit, Lake County Sheriffs Marine Safety Unit, and Department of Natural Resources.

Food and drink will also be offered during the program, and visitors are encouraged to bring their expired fire extinguishers for safe disposal.—by TINA L. SWIECH

Fremont hops on bandwagon

FREMONT TWP.—Although most communities have been talking about the proposed extension of Rte. 53 since the Illinois State Tollway Authority came into the picture, the subject has been largely ignored by officials in Fremont Township—until now.

The board voted unanimously to officially oppose the extension on the grounds that it would "destroy the rural character of the township."

The motion was made by Trustee Tony Titus, who owns property within one-quarter mile of the right-of-way.—by SUZIE REED

Twp., school talk sewer line

GURNEE—The sewer line hook-up with Warren Township High School has been a sticky issue between the school and Warren Township officials. Township board members hope to have closed the books on both, at least for the time being.

WTHS Board members raised issue with the township when it was learned hook-up fees to the sewer line owned by the township would cost $55,000.

There was some talk of hooking up to the county line to the south, but instead the price was raised from $20,000 to $39,000 the school would pay. Robert Depke, Warren Township supervisor, said the $39,000 is the negotiated price.

"We have signed the agreement and the money will go to our town fund. It's over with," Depke said.

Antioch to host opening

ANTIOCH—Antioch will play host to the grand opening ceremonies of the new Metra commuter service along the Wisconsin Central Railroad. Mayor Marilyn Shineflug reported that Metra has scheduled opening ceremonies for Aug. 18 at 1 p.m. beginning at the Antioch station. The train will depart Antioch at about 1:45 p.m. for a trip to all the stations along the tracks to Chicago's downtown Union Station.

"They're planning on spending a few minutes at each of the stops," Shineflug said of the much-awaited North Central Service. The Lake County stops will include Lake Villa, Round Lake Beach, Libertyville, Mundelein, Vernon Hills, and Prairie View.

Metra has not released specifics about train fares or schedules. Three morning trains are expected to depart Antioch between 5:30 and 6:30 a.m. Three evening trains are expected to depart Chicago between 4:30 and 5:30 p.m. Following the ceremonial ride Aug. 18, Metra is planning to begin commuter service Aug. 19.—by KEVIN HANRAHAN

Village settles dispute

VERNON HILLS—A long-disputed court battle over zoning rights reached a compromise last week when the Vernon Hills village board approved a development agreement with Gordon Clavey, who owns 26 acres of prime real estate along Route 60 and Aspen Drive. Clavey originally proposed another major retail outlet in the already retail-rich village, but the village long objected due to the property's location between Hawthorn School Dist. 73's two campuses and the Vernon Hills Park District's community center.

Now, the mixed-use property will include opportunities for small retail shops or banks, a village green or town square, and possibly a 3.5 acre donation to Cook Memorial Library. The site may also include a hotel or a senior living center. The Cook Library board is currently discussing plans for possibly building a branch library in Vernon Hills. "I think this is a good compromise. It was a long time coming," said Village President Roger Byrne. "Hopefully, we can put our checkbooks away and stop paying legal fees."—by KEVIN HANRAHAN

Race registering runners

LIBERTYVILLE—The annual Grayslake area Chamber of Commerce and Industry 5K Road Race and Fun Run is coming up soon, July 21. The quarter mile fun run will start at 8 a.m. on the Grayslake High School track. The 5K road race will begin at 8:30 a.m. rain or shine. The race includes 15 age categories. The top three overall male and female finishers of the 5K road race will receive awards as well as all finishers in both races receiving a ribbon.

This year's race chairperson Tim Perry, said the quarter mile fun run is always held on the high school track and the 5K course runs through the neighborhood behind the high school, but generally varies due to construction in the area.

"The whole idea is to be a fun community event and it kind of is a warm up for Summer Days," held in August he noted. "We expect around 200 runners and would like to see as many as possible."

A special treat every year is the annual competition between the village police and fire departments. Last year, the fire department won by 10 seconds.

The pre-registration fee is $10. Registration the day of the race is $12, and $8 for the fun run at all times. To register, contact Steve Lawrence of the chamber, at 223-8178 or 223-6888. The Chamber office is located at 164 Hawley Street.—by ELIZABETH EAKEN

Judicial appointment up to Illinois Supreme Court

The death of 19th District Circuit Judge William D. Block June 27 left a vacancy that may not soon be filled.

Although Chief Judge Stephen E. Walter and his associates review and select candidates for associate judge vacancies, they have no authority in the appointment of circuit judges. That is the responsibility of the state Supreme Court, said Walter.

"They decide whether to fill the position, and they decide how to do it and who should fill it," he explained.

According to Diane Flory of the 19th District office, Block would have been up for retention in 1998.

Block died after a long battle with cancer.

GOP golf club outing set July 24

The Lake County Republican Club is planning its annual golf outing for Wednesday, July 24 at Countryside Golf Course in Mundelein.

The annual summer affair, including continental breakfast, lunch, golf, cart, dinner and prizes, carries a fee of $100 per person.

To further attempt to attract golfers of all skill levels, two shotgun starts are planned. One begins at 8 a.m. with the second at 1 p.m.

Both flights will have one half teeing off as a "Best Ball Scramble." For more information, or to obtain tickets, call the Republican Federation office in Libertyville at 847-680-6680.

Controlled growth opportunity seen

An unprecedented meeting of elected officials from four villages, the county, a township and a sanitary district will be held July 17 to begin discussions on how growth can be controlled for one of Lake County's largest open space areas.

The area to be considered is a northern portion of the Rte. 12 corridor south of Fox Lake. The Volo Bog nature area is nearby. Nine separate developments are under consideration, including one of the largest residential building proposals in unincorporated territory to come before the county building department in a long time. The area includes the county's largest watershed, the 28,000 acre Squaw Creek drainage system that includes portions of Wauconda and Mundelein.

Participating in the talks will be representatives of the villages of Round Lake, Fox Lake, Volo and Lakemoor; Grant Township and the Lakes Regional Sanitary Dist., plus Barry Hokanson, head of the Lake County Building Dept. Representatives of school districts will be invited as observers.

The enormity of the potential developmental complexities involving a large geographic area with so many constituencies involved is mind-numbing. But the mere fact that the leaders of competing municipalities are willing to attend is an indication that they sense something might be gained through cooperation.

As oft is said, talk is cheap. The meeting might be just that. Talk. Yet the gathering could also be the beginning of a new era in Lake County where adjacent governmental bodies work together on planning growth for the mutual benefit of all.

Clinton-Dole clash closer than stated

BILL SCHROEDER

Publisher

The Bill Clinton-Bob Dole race is much closer than national polls purport, probably 10 points or less difference in states where either Clinton or Dole is considered to have the advantage right now.

Robert J. "Bob" Byrne, a political analyst and business consultant based in Lake County for more than 20 years, reached that conclusion after a mid-year state-by-state analysis.

"Nowhere are either of the candidates ahead by more than 10 points," declared Byrne whose findings were based on such factors as trends, campaign teams and finances, state issues and the relative strength of other parties that will be on the November ballot.

National pollsters do not have sufficient data to draw reasonable conclusions, according to Byrne, whose services attract hefty fees. They tend to ignore local conditions, like the Al Salvi victory in the Republican primary that caught political pros and media pundits alike off guard. Byrne said national forecasters still don't grasp the significance of the Salvi nomination.

How Salvi runs will have a lot to do with whether Dole wins or loses in Illinois, in Byrne's opinion. He puts Illinois in the toss-up category along with such other states as Florida, Missouri, Arkansas, Tennessee and his native New York.

Regardless of what polls are showing, the observer based in Waukegan says the presidential race will be extremely close in New York, Illinois, Michigan and Indiana.

Byrne puts a lot of stock into the impact of splinter party activity like Ross Perot's Reform Party, that will be on the ballot in all 50 states; Ralph Nader's Green Party (35 states), and the Libertarian Party (20 states). "How many people have heard of the Populist/America First Party?" Byrne said the party is headed by Bo Gritz, a retired Army colonel, who is active in a civilian militia group. Gritz has a noticable following in Utah.

Other parties will account for 20 percent of the popular vote, in Byrne's opinion. That will be sufficient to affect the presidential outcome in a number of states.

Byrne's Electoral College analysis gives Dole 277 votes, headed by big states Ohio, Pennsylvania and Texas, more than enough to elect. California is solidly in the Clinton camp. The Byrne study gives Clinton 131 electoral votes.

White House transgressions, the unpopularity of the First Lady and the normal "baggage" carried by an incumbent will counteract Clinton's popularity. Clinton peaked in 1992. Byrne reasons that Clinton hasn't grown in popularity.

The Byrne study forecasts a Dole victory. No hedging. Bill Schroeder offers editorial commentary every Tuesday on Lake County Live presented by STAR Channel 3/U.S. Cable at 5:30 and 7:30 p.m.

—LETTERS TO THE Editor—

Code 'tailored'

Editor:

Why just athletes? Drops of Ink covers this topic in depth in their February 9 edition, "Has the time for change arrived?" This is a must read if you want to know the truth about how Libertyville Community High School operates. Could we have an "extra curricular code of conduct?" The administration at LHS has adopted tough consequences for some athletes in violation of the athletic code, but not all athletes. Illegal activity reported by the police of students in other extra curricular activity goes unchecked.

LHS has stated the "Our athletes are role models for our entire student body and also for our young children in the community." Much press has been given about the new tough athletic code. Police now report any illegal activity to LHS so they can take action on athletes in violation. Some athletes have lost 40 percent of the season. Others in serious violation with the same 40 percent consequence have missed two games before being returned to post season tournament play. Why do rules change at tournament time?

Administrators at LHS want us to assume that illegal activity has decreased because of the new code. This year's reporting system for violations is different than years past. It is not possible to compare the number of violation with last years'. Assuming that it has decreased why are they reluctant to apply the same code to all extra curricular activity.

Should members of other clubs, teams, and councils at LHS have the same exclusion from participation for illegal activity as do some athletes? Students of the drama club, jazz band, student council etc. are not subject to consequences in and out of school. Are we to believe that these students are not role models for the school or for our young children that have interest in these specific areas?

Administrators at LHS continue to tell of their high standards. It is time for themselves to be loyal to their own standard, and apply them to all extra curricular activities and all athletes alike.

Hotel proposal 'silly'

Editor:

There is no circumstance imaginable in which the citizens of Gurnee should finance a hotel or convention center. It is strictly up to private enterprise to do these things. There is no mandate to the Gurnee government to find increasingly silly ways to spend "bonanza" tax income derived from Gurnee Mills, Great America and elsewhere.

Instead, Gurnee officials should begin to find ways to rebate the "bonanza" income being received by the Village from sales and amusement taxes, to those taxpaying private citizens bearing an increasingly large tax burden imposed by other taxing bodies such as schools, parks and county entities. They are "exploding" because of Gurnee's growth.

Call it "Gurnee's Version of the Alaska Plan." That state has regularly rebated a portion of bonanza oil revenues to state citizens each year. This was part of the original deal that made the pipeline possible. Citizens who live there annually get about $1,000 from oil revenues.

If the Gurnee taxpayers got a rebate based on their pro rata share of taxes paid in recent years, it would help some people continue to live here, rather than be forced out. This applies to recent comers, as well as old-timers. We all need the relief. Why shouldn't the "wise planning" often bragged about, accrue to the benefit of the citizens? The revenue isn't meant solely to give our government that "feel-good comfy" attitude as their spending keeps escalating.

If our present leaders can't see the wisdom in this approach, it's time to replace the entire group.

Event no tax burden

Editor:

In 1990, Andrea Moore appointed me (and Char Kiesgen) co-chairs of "Senior Citizens Picnic..."

I saw that we were spending about $9,000 in tax dollars for this event, and said, "I know hundreds of business who regularly pay many dollars to get in front of this many seniors..."

And, although there was severe doubt, I went out and used some of my personal contacts to land two anchor sponsors at $3,000 in the first year—and add name entertainment to the stage.

In the second year of my chairmanship, the event became totally supported by the private sector, with modest exhibits and See LETTERS page B5

PARTY LINES

Vanderventer greets President Clinton during campaign stop

Party Lines, the Lakeland Newspapers column of political commentary, is prepared from staff reports.

When President Bill Clinton came to town last week stumping for U.S. Senate candidate Dick Durbin, a Lake County political hopeful was within arms-reach of the nation's leader.

"It was a once in a lifetime experience," said Mary Ellen Vanderventer, candidate for recorder of deeds.

Vanderventer also got a few minutes of time with Senator Paul Simon.

"The Senator shared some words of wisdom with me about campaigning. I was honored that he took the time to answer some of my questions. He is very inspiring," said Vanderventer.

Woman of courage—State Rep. Lauren Beth Gash (D-60th) has been honored as a recipient of the Women's Leadership Council's annual Courage Award.

"Lauren is representative of the women we wanted to honor this year," said Lisa Huenink, president of the women's leadership council. "Instead of letting party politics or lobbyists influence her decisions, she chose to stand up and represent her district. In presenting this award, we hope to encourage Lauren and other state elected officials to continue to do the right thing rather than what is easy."

The council is an independent coalition of women working as a political and social force in the northwest suburbs.

Making the rounds—U.S. senate hopeful Al Salvi made the rounds in Chicagoland to celebrate Independence Day. He participated in the Wheaton parade along with Republican presidential nominee Bob Dole, Governor Jim Edgar and Congressman Henry Hyde. Following the parade, Salvi attended the Dole rally. On the homefront, he rode in the Antioch parade, July 6, and ran in the 5K fun run for Mundelein Days.

Leadership service—Rep. Thomas Lachner of Lake Bluff has been selected to participate in a leadership program for state legislators from the Midwest.

Lachner and state lawmakers from Illinois and 10 other states will meet July 12-17 in Madison, Wis., for the second annual Bowhay Institute for Legislative Leadership Development.

The goal of the program is to help develop leaders in a time of increasing turnover in state legislatures, in some cases compelled by term limits.

Lachner is the GOP candidate for the Illinois Senate from Dist. 30.

Lachner

Political metaphor—Veterinarian and activist Ed Sullivan seems to be disenchanted with the performance of the three men he helped propel onto the Mundelein Village Board in 1995. Duane Dudek, Ira Kosova and Ray Semple have not sparked any amazing changes in the village. Particularly irritating to Sullivan is Semple's reluctance to run for mayor in 1997, something that was in his plans during the election. "They cut off his fangs right away," Sullivan lamented.

Historic gridlock—Traffic jams are nothing new in Lake County, according to Libertyville trustee and historian Dean Larson. Before the Skokie Valley Highway was opened in 1931, Larson told members of the Transportation Management Association, weekend traffic was bumper to bumper on Milwaukee Ave. from 2 p.m. Friday to 2 a.m. Monday. The only road between Chicago and Milwaukee at the time, the congestion started after the road was paved during the 1920s.

No secrets—One of Party Line's sleuths supplied in short order an answer to the question about which county board members ducked out on contributing to a petty cash fund for the annual Lake County Senior Day at Lakewood Forest Preserve.

Raftis

Are you taking notes? Bob Depke, Dick Raftis and David Stolman. Have they got something against senior citizens? Although entertainment and refreshments are corporate sponsored, $20 each from board members is sought each year for incidentals.

Ambitious—Martin Jantzen, the young Republican running against County Board Rep. Bob Buhai (D-Highland Park)

often is described in Clintonesque terms—youthful, driven, ambitious. Jantzen was slated by the GOP to take on the entrenched and popular Buhai, a former Highland Park mayor who holds county purse strings as finance chairman.

Thank you—County Board Rep. Larry Leafblad (R-Highland Lake) tossed a Sunday brunch for backers who helped him get renominated.

Leafblad

Holding back—Bureaucrats in the Lake County Div. of Transportation are dragging their heels on requests for traffic signals at Rte. 83 and Monaville Rd. County Board Rep. Suzi Schmidt (R-Lake Villa) said backing from mayors in neighboring villages hasn't dented the tough skin of county agents. Schmidt supports signals.

Last year, we actually made money on it, and have used the cash flow to improve and broaden the base of the event.

This has resulted in a total savings of well over $50,000 to the taxpayers of Lake County, and given the senior day event a whole new layer of class and pride.

We now have the private sector sponsoring everything from the king and queen contest, to food, beverage, refreshments, and transportation. All for the seniors of Lake County.

Spending unanswered

Editor:
Regarding the letter from Betty Rae Kaiser, I find it interesting that as Bob Neal's campaign manager she had been the only one to rally to his defense. And to that end, Ms. Kaiser failed to address the issues of frequent mismanagement and flagrant spending on behalf of the tollway as Mr. Neal continues to sit on the Tollway Authority Board collecting a salary, not to mention collecting salaries from the county as a board member on both the Lake County Board and the Forest Preserve Board.

I too, am happy that the tollway was built for our use. However, as the tollway began its building in 1957 and Mr. Neal has served just the past few years, I hardly think he had anything to do with the tollway's inception. As for the "millions" Mr. Neal has helped save us Lake County taxpayers, this surely must be his justification for the Tollway Authority's spending over $1,700 a piece for those board room chairs.

Role of clerks varies

Editor:
I would like to thank you and your staff for all the many nice articles you have written about me over the years.

Although we have 60 paid-up members, at the time of the election for president there were only between 20 to 30 clerks present. Many clerks have other full-time jobs and their work loads prevent them from being able to attend all the meetings.

One of the goals of MCI (Municipal Clerks of Illinois), which the Lake County Municipal Clerks and I support, is to actively portray the "Clerk's Worth" and help residents to understand just what a municipal clerk does. The actual position of "Clerk" varies dramatically in every municipality.

Lake County Municipal Clerks meet monthly between September and June. We have speakers come for training and continuing education. Some of our speakers come from the Speakers Bureau at the College of Lake County and some from the Lake County Offices including, but not limited to, Willard Helander's Office, Tax Extension, Recorder's Office, Building and Mapping Department and so on. We like to be informed as to how our offices can work jointly with the county offices and stay current with proper procedures and document filing.

The yearly bowl-a-thon for the "Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Lake County" is spearheaded by Colleen Kasting, CMC/AAE, the village clerk in Mundelein and one of the past-presidents for the Lake County Municipal Clerks. It is a pet project of hers and she looks to increase the donation yearly by getting as many to bowl as possible. The municipal clerks cooperate by bowling in this worthy cause.

Most recently, after having Mr. Kimmel, Director of the Lake County Forest Preserve, speak at one of our luncheons, it was suggested by Kathy Ryg, CMC/AAE of Vernon Hills that we, as an organization volunteer for the "Lake County Forest Preserve Senior Day". Which most all did, my job June 26, 1996, was helping in the parking lot area. This event was lot of fun!

Concept 'deep sixed'

Editor:
As I watch the burning destruction of the recreational buildings at the Wooster Lake Campground, it is incomprehensible to think that this beautiful piece of recreational property will be turned into buildings and blacktop.

My family developed this 30 acre hayfield into a lovely camping resort. The public was provided a good family vacation at affordable rates. A Red Cross swimming program water-proofed over 1,000 kids every summer. Campers learned how to row, paddle, clean fish, build a bonfire, and pitch a tent that would stay up. Kids met at camp and grew up to marry at the pavilion. There were over 300 trees on the property, many planted by daughter Kim Eudy and late husband, Chuck.

While the girls and I ran the camp, Chuck was busy with his Waukegan company, Midwest Bronze and Aluminum. He was always supportive of our endeavors. As the girls grew up, their husbands and families helped at the resort. Often, the only time they got off was when it rained. Sometimes I found them secretly doing a rain dance. Everyone pitched in to make it work.

During our 20 years in operation, we were often approached by developers interested in building on our property. We refused because we believed in family recreation. When we finally sold, US Vacation Resorts assured us the operation would remain a fine camping resort for the next 250 years. Over 800 families bought into this three generation membership. After an intensive legal battle where our family tried once more again to secure the property as a camp-ground, it fell into the hands of Four Oaks Development. Where tents were pitched and bonfires once burned, cars and 86 condominiums will soon stand on 14 buildable acres.

It's most unfortunate that our zoning laws would not protect this beautiful piece of recreation. It's sad, really sad that the almighty dollar can overshadow the things that are so very important in life.

Native American Indian place names in Lake County

FOX RIVER

Named for the Fox Indian tribe, a band reputed to have perished at Maramech Hill in Kendall County, Illinois when assaulted by a superior force of French and Indians in 1730. In earlier times the Fox River was called Piticou, Pishtaka, Pishtako, or Pistakee, the Algonquin word for buffalo, a name preserved in Pistakee Lake. Source: Indian Place Names of Illinois by Virgil Vogel.

HALF DAY

Named for the Native American chief Aptakisc, whose name may be translated as "half day," and alternately as "sun at meridian" or "center of the sky." The name was reportedly given him because he performed in a half day a task or journey normally requiring a full day. Aptakisc's band is said to have planted corn near Half Day. Source: Indian Place Names of Illinois, by Virgil Vogel.

INDIAN CREEK

The village, incorporated in 1958, was named for the stream, Indian Creek. The creek is a tributary of the Des Plaines River near Half Day, apparently so named because of the associations with the Potawatomi chief Aptakisc, who frequented the area, circa 1831, and the band of Mettawa which was encamped there in 1833-34. Source: Indian Place Names of Illinois, by Virgil Vogel.

METTAWA

The name was that of a Potawatomi chief who had a village in this vicinity in the 1830s. Colby C. Benton's journal of 1833 contains perhaps the only historical description of Mettawa and his village. "Me-tay-way," Benton wrote, was then about 60 years of age, and his village was situated near the junction of the Des Plaines River and "a little creek," now called Indian Creek. Source: Indian Place Names of Illinois, by Virgil Vogel.

NIPPERSINK

Probably taken from "nippisse" signifying "small water," "pool" or "pond," and ink, or "at" or "place." Nippersink, probably of Potawatomi origin, is a cognate of Nippissing, the name of a lake in Ontario, defined as "at the little water or lake." Source: Indian Place Names of Illinois, by Virgil Vogel.

PISTAKEE LAKE

The Algonquin word for buffalo. Pre-European settlement, this was the name of the Fox River, which flows out of the south end of Pistakee Lake, and joins the Illinois River at Ottawa. The name came from the Illinois word rendered as pisikiou by Marquette, and signifies "buffalo." It has been erroneously held to signify "fox" and "antelope." Whispers of Native American history cross Lake County

The first white settlers arrived in Lake County in the 1830s, just over 100 years ago. They found a land with sunflower-type flowers taller than their horses, a land of luxuriant green grass, floral displays and an abundance of streams and ponds.

For more than 10,000 years prior, Native American tribes found the lands of Lake County a land of plenty for hunting, fishing and gathering, for growing their crops of maize and squash.

In those 100 years since the white settlers arrived, much of the evidence of Native Americans has been destroyed, but there are lasting memorials to the first residents of this land. You can find it in the paths our roads travel, in the names of many towns and there is even still evidence of burial sites and villages scattered across Lake County.

"There are almost 400 sites recorded in the archaeological records," said Rochelle Lurie, an archaeologist with Midwestern Archaeological Services in Harvard. Those include village sites, camp sites and burial sites. Lurie has been involved in archaeological surveys throughout northern Illinois.

Most evidence of tribal occupations are around rivers, streams and other water resources.

"Wetlands provided lots of good resources for people who make a living off hunting," said Lurie. "They lived in the highlands and went down to the wetlands. There they found plants which they used for baskets. Root plants in marshy areas were also a good food source. They ate fish, frogs, snakes."

In the early part of this century, surveyor Albert Scharf mapped the sites of Indian villages, mounds and trails in Illinois. A Scharf map of Lake County from 1919 shows a concentration of sites around the Chain O' Lakes, the Lake Zurich area, Lake Michigan and the Des Plaines River. The map also shows that Route 83 follows the path of what was once the Mukwonago Trail, the Porcupine Trail is about where Fairfield Road is now; the Green Bay Trail followed a dividing ridge between the Great Lakes Basin and the Mississippi Valley. The trail was so direct it was designated a military road by the government in 1935. Milwaukee Road followed an Indian trail on the high ridges between the skokies and rivers, according to literature from the Lake County Museum.

"The trails were built so there would be easy access to and from villages. You can go back and look at the way trails later became roads. There was no surveying done, yet the roads were almost straight," noted Bill Brown Sr., a resident of Zion, and chairman of the Potawatomi Trails Pow Wow. Brown, who is a descendent of the Creek tribe of the Southeast is a local expert on Native Americans.

Native tribes often found their way along these trails with the help of trail markers. These were sapling trees bent horizontally and secured in place by a hitching hide so that the tree grew into a bent shape.

"The trail markers also told where the trail was going and what to expect, such as there is water two days ahead," said Brown.

Back in the 1920s and '30s, Bess T. Dunn of the Garden Club of Waukegan went out documenting the trail markers. She found trail markers in Round Lake, Lake Bluff, North Chicago, Waukegan, Zion and Wadsworth. Since then the trail markers either fell to development or old age. Only one trail marker, about 250 years old, remains, in the Zion Park District.

It is suspected that many remains of villages and burial mounds were also destroyed during development in the years before government regulation. According to Lurie, Illinois now has some of the most stringent laws regarding excavation of burial sites. Developers are required to perform archaeological surveys which are overseen by the Illinois Historical Preservation Agency.

One of the goals of the Potawatomi Trails Pow Wow, besides education, is to document remaining burial sites. According to Brown, Native Americans have high regard for their burial grounds; they believe that the spirit of the dead remains in the burial site.

"The Potawatomi believe they are at rest and you don't disturb them no matter what," said Brown.

It infuriates Brown that previous burial grounds were disturbed in the past and he believes there are still some remaining that may be threatened if they are not documented and protected.

"It would be like going into a cemetery and digging up your grandparents," said Brown. He added he would like to see skeletal remains that were dug up repatriated someday.

Although the Potawatomi is the tribe most often associated with Lake County, the tribe lived here for a relatively short period after being pushed out of Wisconsin. The Potawatomi arrived in the 1700s and left with the Treaty of 1833.

"Lots of tribes moved in and out of here. Some of the tools that have been found we don't really know who made them," said Stacey Pyne, archivist at the Lake County Museum. "They tend to fall into time periods."

The prehistoric (before European settlement) tribes fall into time periods ranging from 500 to 1,000 years, but not as much is known of these ancestors of modern Native Americans. According to Pyne burial sites in Lake County are generally very old dating back as far as the Paleo-Indians, 9,000 to 12,000 years ago.

Lurie has found in her research that more recent tribes, in the past 1,000 years, used the Des Plaines River area for a winter camping site.

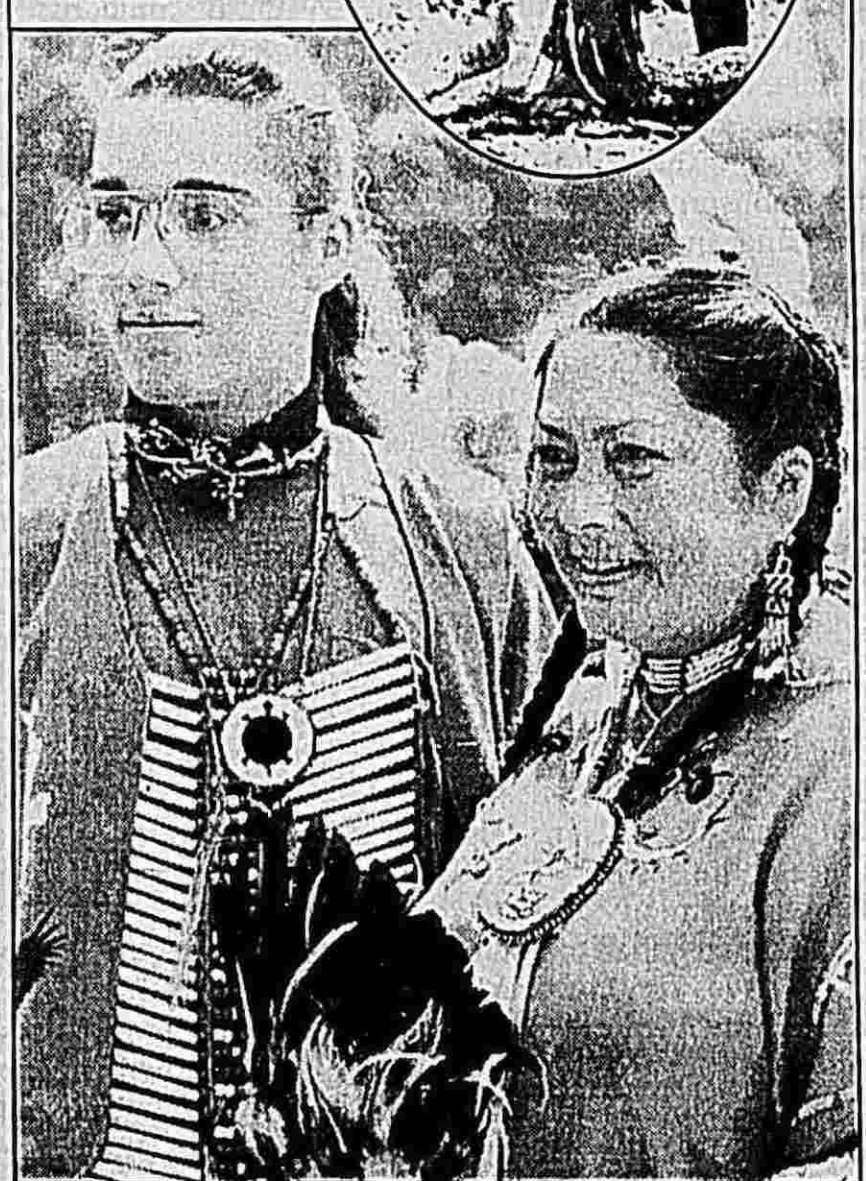

"The tribes often used this area seasonally. They moved north for winter and spring and then moved back south for the fertile land for agriculture," said Lurie.

"Most of the sites we deal with are quite old, especially in Lake County," said Lurie. "There's a long time lapse between when it was occupied by ancestors of Native Americans and the time that we knew something about tribes in the area."

Brown has brought descendants of Lake County Potawatomi to some of the ancient burial sites in Lake County.

"They say they feel a presence there — and you can feel it," said Brown. "In the Native American tradition, you don't own a piece of land, you belong to that piece of property."

Millers bring outdoors inside in dream home

When Greg Miller, owner of National Landmark Group, decided to develop Hidden Creek Subdivision in Antioch, he had a great many ideas in mind for the custom home community—including a home of his own.

The Millers are self-professed outdoor people who wanted to take in the views around them. The rear of the 5,500-square-foot home faces Red Wing Slough, which is in the process of becoming an Illinois Department of Conservation Nature Preserve. There are said to be nine endangered species making the slough their habitat.

"We wanted to take in all the views out here," said Greg, of the many, large nearly floor to ceiling windows the home features. "That is one the greatest features of this piece of property."

The Millers are outdoor people who bring nature inside. Kathy Miller jokes about designing the family room to accommodate Greg's big game trophies—including two alligators.

"The alligators were coming and we had to figure the dimensions of the room to fit them in," she said.

Greg claimed his trophies in Baton Rouge, La. At one time they were the fifth and sixth largest alligators claimed on record.

"We really have quite an assortment," Greg said. "When the kids have friends over, this is definitely the room which generates the most conversation."

In addition to the alligators, the room features a black bear, elk and two jack rabbits seated at a card table playing poker and drinking beer. Kathy's trophy is a stuffed animal moose.

"The rabbits are my sons," Greg said.

The family room also features a wet bar and a fireplace with unfinished marble for the face.

The home sits on 1 3/4 acres and features five bedrooms and four and one-half baths.

A bedroom suite off the family room. The Millers use it as a guests bedroom for their parents when they visit from out-of-town.

"It's nice because it's on the first floor and it provides guest with a great deal of privacy," Greg said.

The kitchen features a double stove, cherrywood cabinets and lots of space for working. The countertops are made of Corian.

"I wanted to be able to cook without anyone in the way," said Kathy.

There is a kitchen eating area with several large windows, providing a view of the raised patio area, backyard and the slough.

To the front of the kitchen is a large formal dining room.

"This is not a room we use everyday, but it is great for when we have company," Kathy said.

The dining room leads to the front foyer which, in keeping with the exterior of the home, gives you the feeling of being in a older, turn of the century home.

The exterior of the home is all done in brick to enhance the look. Entering the foyer, the large grand stair case circles down to the marble floor entryway with a six-panel entry door.

"There are two personalities to the home," Greg said. "It is meant to blend the old designs with modern living accommodations."

A home office is directly off the foyer with a formal living room to the back of the home.

The formal living features a direct vent fireplace that is gas burning.

"A direct vent fireplace works similar to a dryer," said Greg. "It makes the fireplace easy to install and use and a chimney is not needed on the exterior."

The living quarters for the Miller family are on the upper level.

The grand staircase leads to a foyer area where an overlook provides a view of the front yard. The windows all feature large ledges to hold plants and other keepsakes.

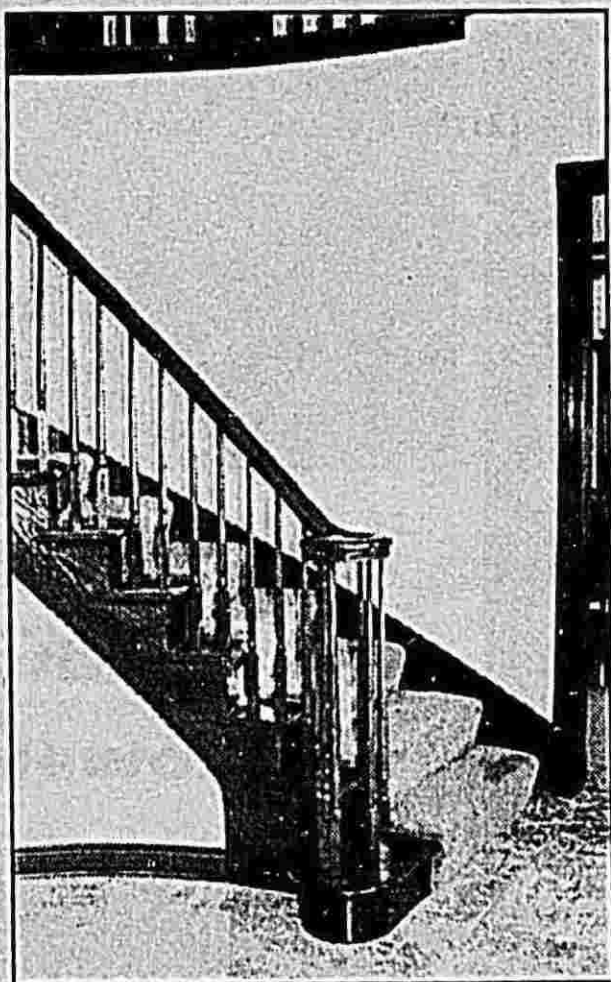

There are four bedrooms on the second level. The two to the front of the home are occupied by the couple's two sons, Tom, 12 and Scott, 9. A bathroom for the boys is in the hallway.

The Miller's teen-age daughter, Kim, 18, has a bedroom suite with her own bath and a walk-in closet.

"It is how we bribed her to move away from her friends," Kathy joked. "It's hard to move in high school, and having a room with the things she wanted was one way to ease the transition."

The Millers designed their family room to accommodate Greg's trophy alligators caught in Baton Rouge, La. "It's always a conversation piece," Greg said.

Greg says the two bedroom suites in addition to the master bedroom will be a great feature for the family in the years to come.

"Some people are saying large homes will be out-of-style but I don't think they will go out of style because more and more children are returning home after college and staying into their early adults years. This provides us with the ability to offer them a great deal of privacy as adults," he said.

An additional feature upstairs which adds to the charm of creating an older look to the home is that the ceilings are chopped in slightly with the sloped roof.

"I grew up in a home like that and I would measure my growth by reaching the slope in the ceiling," Greg said.

The master bedroom is a haven for the Millers. The large window again provides a great view of the slough and a small deck off the bedroom provides a great place for a morning cup of coffee.

A bear skin rug greets you as you enter the double doors to the room where you face another vented fireplace.

The master bathroom features charcoal and white ceramic tile with a whirlpool bath, shower and double sink as well as a great deal of storage space.

Off the bathroom is a sitting/sewing room and large walk-in closet.

Placed over the garage is an exercise room, which will soon feature a sauna.

"I like to use the space above a garage," Greg said. "There is a lot of additional space you can add to the home by doing so."

The Millers have lived in their home for two years. It was the third house built in Hidden Cove subdivision.

The basement is an English basement with large windows and 9 foot ceilings.

"I always like to use English basements because it provides the opportunity to finish the home and add additional living space. The larger windows provide more sunlight and eliminate the need to install window wells," he said.

Plans for the basement include an indoor hockey rink and a fireplace is currently under construction.

"Eventually this will be a billiards room and a place to relax," Greg said.

As the developer of Hidden Creek, Greg wants his home to show prospective buyers the quality of work available as well as the options to use in their own homes.

Kathy says the home is easy to live in and easy to maintain.

"There is a lot of storage and the central vacuum system is a real plus," Kathy said. "This house was built around our lifestyle."

There are 36 lots in the custom home development of which 13 are sold.

"I'm really bullish on Antioch," said Greg. "It's a great community to work and live in and I think it is time for a subdivision like this in the community."

-DECORATING DIMENSIONS Top 10 home fashion must-haves

If you are thinking about decorating any part of your home this year, you may be interested in what the experts predict as the hottest home fashion "must-haves."

Decorating Den's top designers traveled to the semi-annual Furniture Market in High Point, N.C.

This experience, coupled with industry reports and understanding their clients' needs led Decorating Den to create the "Top 10 Home Fashion Must-Haves."

1. Eclectic Accents: The No. 1 direction in home furnishings, eclectic accents bridge the gap between the elegance of traditional and the informal comfort of contemporary by mixing various elements and accessories from different periods.

2. Massive and masculine: "Tall, dark and handsome" would be an appropriate description for the plethora of home furnishings with a bold sense of masculinity. Leathers, tweeds, plaids, oversized ottomans and gads of hobby accessories such as golf, hunting and fishing are several examples.

3. Bold Beds: No matter what design, four poster, canopy or sleigh, bed proportions are predicted to be bigger and better than ever.

4. Hi-Ho Silver: The Midas Touch has turned to silver, replacing gold at the No. 1 choice for a luxurious finish. Silver will be more prominent in the traditional areas such as accessories. Look for silver to pop up in fabric weaves and trimmings as well.

5. Curves, Curves, Curves: Circles are definitely in, most dramatically in the living room where they are predicted to be the most popular shape. Curves will appear in furniture, floorcovering and accessories.

6. Serene Green, Spicy Paprika: A sofa sensuous green, sometimes bordering on grey, and a sultry ethnic red, called paprika, are the rising accent colors in home decor.

7. Touchable Texture: Highly textured solid and woven fabrics, chenilles, velvets, supple suedes and burn outs, have overtaken pattern as the newest "feel good" fabric trend.

8. Pizazz with Pattern: As a result of texture being more prominent, pattern is taking off in floorcoverings and accessories. From needlepoint, hooked and chani-stitched area rugs to patterned lampshades, there is simply no end to the variety available.

9. Haute Harlequin: Approaching the power of the stripe as an always appropriate coordinate, the harlequin or diamond pattern is hot! You will see this pattern in all areas of home decor from painted wood floors, fabricated furnishings, window treatments, and accessories!

10. Decorative Hardware: Dramatic, innovative and decorative hardware, featuring a variety of unusual metals and themes, adds tremendous visual interest to even the simplest of window treatments by MARY LEBEN, Decorating Den, Grayslake and Gurnee. For decorating answers call Leben at

Design gaining prominence in planning decks

Americans continually are becoming more design conscious. You can see it on the cover of every magazine at the checkout and in every department store across the land. No aspect of our lives escapes the critical eye of design, not our linens or our china—not even our decks.

Homeowners are not just putting a square deck on the back of their houses anymore.

Today, deck add-ons are following the architectural styling of the house. People are paying attention to how the deck works as a component of the entire landscape.

Decks have become an extension of the living space. They work with the interior of the home to create more dining, lounging or entertaining space. They carry the interior decorating theme outside, and fit into the architectural design of the house itself.

People are getting away from just putting down the deck and adding a railing so people won't fall off the deck. They're taking into consideration what style of handrail should be used for the style of the house, for example, and other ways to integrate the deck style into the architecture of the house.

Five or 10 years ago, a simple deck with square balusters supporting 2x4 railings might have ended up on a colonial house.

Homeowners are thinking of decks much as they thought of porches years ago—as an architectural extension of the house. Porches, which used to be our outdoor living space, always were an integral part of the way the house looked since they generally were designed as part of the house before construction.

Today, decks have become the outdoor living space and people are beginning to see the need to design the deck as part of the house.

This increased consciousness of design does not, however, require the added expense of hiring talented craftsmen to create custom spindles and posts as "period pieces" for your deck.

Manufacturers like Weyerhaeuser LifeWood have produced an extensive line of outdoor millwork products from pressure-treated lumber. Spindles match newel posts and handrails, and lattice panels have custom design.

And not only can you create that "designed look," the millwork products also are designed to fit quickly and easily together via notches and grooves.

Even though creative decks don't cost a lot more, they do require a new outlook during the design stages. It might be termed "exterior design."

Homeowners should plan their decks and landscaping just as carefully as they would an addition to their house.

Homeowners should think of their landscaping area as one or more outdoor rooms, taking into consideration how they'll want to use that space and how they can create an intimate environment there. There should be space for plants and outdoor furniture, space for entertaining, dining, or whatever other activities the family enjoys.

In the end, this increased focus on design may mean Americans will spend more time out on the deck enjoying spring flowers and summer sunsets. All in all, it doesn't sound like a bad trend.

Household tips

Ready-mix

A quick and easy way to please children who like peanut butter and jelly sandwiches, try mixing a batch of peanut butter and jelly in the same jar and store it in the refrigerator. It is ready an time the kids want a sandwich.

Kitchen drawer

Home or apartment kitchens with limited counter space can benefit from this tip. In order to make more space, when cooking for company, open a top drawer and put a cookie sheet over the top, then close it so the tray fits tightly. Every inch of counter space matters, and this will give you a little more room that is sorely needed.

Recycle sweaters

Instead of throwing away old sweaters unravel them and turn them into balls of yarn to make a colorful afghan.

Miracle filters

Next time you are at a rummage sale and see coffee filters, get them, even though you do not drink coffee! This lowly and inexpensive (fluted) filter has a multiple of uses. For instance, use a flattened filter as a dish cover in the microwave to absorb spills and splatters. Place small mugs or small bowls inside a filter to catch anything that bubbles over. Place filters between small bowls inside a filter to catch anything that bubbles over. Place filters between small nesting nonstick pans to prevent scratches—use between fine china too (especially handy between cups and bowls).

Flatten a filter and fold in half for an absorbent holder when serving tacos or sloppy joes.

Cordless garden tools provide more power

If you have trouble starting your gas powered blower or hate dragging along a 100-foot extension cord with your electric hedge trimmer, take heart.

A new generation of cordless lawn and garden tools that are as powerful as electric yard tools may be the answer to your problems.

During the '70s, cordless yard and garden tools such as grass shears and string trimmers were a curiosity. The tools performed well enough but did not match the power of corded electric models.

Now, because of high-performance batteries and battery-powered motors newly introduced cordless tools can match the performance of electric tools.

Cordless hand tools have been popular among do-it-yourselfers and contractors for the past several years. But cordless technology is just now finding its way into lawn and garden tools.

The reason? Cordless garden tools can require 10 times more power than cordless screwdrivers or drills.

Affordable battery technology simply was not available. But demand for portable power has caused the development of high-power, low-maintenance, sealed lead acid batteries, which are light-weight and inexpensive.

with the blower and use a spotlight to find all the tools left in the yard after dark.

Some tips on choosing cordless lawn and garden equipment:

- Shop for performance. The new cordless tools should be able to perform as well as corded models. The performance information should be listed on the box. If not, ask questions. String trimmers should have a tip cutting speed of 30,000 feet per minute. Hedge trimmers should have cutting speed of 2,800 strokes per minute. Blowers should have an air velocity of at least 90 mph.

- Choose high battery capability. The battery must be able to deliver a 10-amp load for at least 30 minutes. If not, you'll constantly be recharging the battery for yard work on a normal half-acre yard. In layman's terms, the battery should have enough power for the string trimmer to trim the length of three football fields.

- Look for product line versatility. If you want to get the maximum use out of the tools, purchase the system that has a wide variety of products. For example, Toro cordless tools feature a string trimmer, blower, hedge trimmer and utility light.

Also, see if the battery pack can power other electrical products with car cigarette lighter adapters such as personal radios/cassette players, stereos or boom boxes.

Dishwasher placement: above and beyond traditional

Have you noticed? Traditional rules of appliance placement are giving way to new ideas. Gone are the days when the family dishwasher, range and refrigerator had to be lined up in military fashion against the kitchen wall. According to kitchen design experts dishwashers don't have to be located under a counter or even right next to the sink anymore. Thoughtful placement can create a more efficient kitchen for all who use it.

For example, consider angling the dishwasher toward the sink for ease of reaching between the two, separating them with a corner spacer panel.

This helps make cabinet storage accessible while the dishwasher door is open.

For the two-cook family that likes to entertain try doubling up on dishwashers. This makes great sense if one is in the food preparation area and the other across the kitchen in the serving zone.

You might install the second dishwasher on the back of a peninsula with adjacent dish storage. Since today's dishwashers don't require pre-rinsed dishes and can be plumbed directly into the waste line, they can be separated from the sink area and placed closer to the dining area so dishes can be loaded directly from the table.

Raising the dishwasher six to 18 inches off the ground is an idea that is gaining in popularity, greatly easing loading and unloading. Since the dishwasher occupies the space of a standard 24-inch-wide cabinet, it is relatively simple to plan for an elevated dishwasher. Wide pull-out drawers above and below can store items ranging from flat cookie sheets and pizza pans to larger pots. There may even be enough room to install a toe-kick step stool to give a boost to overhead storage.

Another new idea is to install the dishwasher in a corner oven cabinet six to eight inches off the floor, with a microwave on top and dish storage adjacent to it.

Remember: It's not wise to elevate a dishwasher more than 18 inches off the ground. And if you're installing a raised dishwasher adjacent to the sink, try to leave 18 inches of counter space between the sink and the dishwasher—you need elbow room to work at the sink, as well as a place to set the dishes when unloading the dishwasher.

Genealogical Society saves old records

Lake County Clerk Willard Helander is pleased to announce that volunteers from the Lake County Genealogical Society are partnering with the Clerk's office in a project to organize, index and reproduce the county's birth records dating from 1866 to 1916.

These fragile, deteriorating records have been stored in paper envelopes for many years. The records will be reproduced on acid-free paper to prolong the life of the documents and bound in indexed volumes that will be an invaluable resource for historical researchers.

Genealogical Society President Bobbie Briggs recruited 18 volunteers for the project who will perform the hundreds of work at no cost to the taxpayers.

"We've wanted to get this project underway for a year and a half," said Helander, "but we did not have resources dedicated the project. We are just thrilled that Bobbie and the other genealogists have stepped forward. Their service to the community preserves the records, saves the taxpayers' money and creates a new resource for the people of Lake County and their descendants."

Customers may conduct their own genealogical index search and may purchase copies marked "For Genealogical Purposes Only" for reduced fee of $4 as compared to the $8 fee for certified copies of vital records.

Helander praised the efforts of the society saying, "We greatly appreciate their expertise and efforts. We could not have accomplished this major project in a busy election year without their help."

Great Italian food being served at Raffaelli's

With Italian food becoming the No. 1 choice of those who dine out, Raffaelli's Italian Cafe, at 1765 N. Milwaukee Ave., is fast becoming the most popular Italian restaurant in Lake County. One of the main reasons is that they serve authentic Italian foods exuding a true northern accent.

Owners Mary Freemon and Frank Raffaelli opened their doors four years ago. Their added plus was then, and still remains, the European culinary talents of Chef Zain, who comes to Lake County, having been trained in Italy, so the residents of northern Illinois have access to savory basil and tomato dishes.

Raffaelli's menu is filled with scrumptious pasta dishes, but it also offers succulent steaks, chicken, veal and fresh seafood dishes. The most popular main entree remains Pasta Raffaelli, a blend of sun-dried tomatoes, garlic, basil, lemon juice, and cashews served over linguini with a chicken breast.

Every meal served at Raffaelli's deserves to be topped off with something from their long list of homemade desserts that includes tiramisu, cheesecake, cannoli, and spumoni ice cream.

Raffaelli's is open for lunch and dinner seven days a week and also offers an extravagant Sunday brunch that features 150 delicious items. Raffaelli's also has a 250-people capacity for banquets, weddings or any other celebration. Call (847)367-8088 for reservations or more information.

Raffaelli's History

Over a hundred years ago, in the scenic, mountainous, Italian village of Monte Catini, the Raffaelli family was renowned for its fine chefs. Yet, recently when the Raffaellis, headed by Paul Raffaelli, moved to the promised land, they brought with them their tradition of fine cuisine. And now, with the opening of Raffaelli's Italian Cafe, Frank Raffaelli, Paul's son, carries on his family tradition, for your family to enjoy.

Basics of watering essential during summer dry spells

A trace of rain for the last 14 days has left many gardens extremely dry. Plants like alders, birch, red maples and weeping willows looked great in May and June because of the heavy rains. These plants now are showing signs of stress with yellowing leaves, partial defoliation and some are filled with aphids. What can be done?

Watering of plants, especially newer plantings, must be done each week. Plants require a least one-inch of water a week. Deep penetration of water into the soil is extremely important during hot, dry spells of weather.

A shade tree that's four-inches in caliper needs to be watered for at least 20 to 30 minutes, once a week, and the water must slowly seep deep into the ground.

Lake County soils are generally heavy in clay content which means they hold water well, however, the water must penetrate down a good 18-inches or more for a four-inch caliper shade tree to benefit. We like to see the water bubbling up around the tree, and then take a steel ree-bar and see how easy it is to penetrate the soil outside of the root ball of the tree.

Since only 20 to 30 percent of the roots are left intact in a balled and burlapped plant, watering properly is essential to keep the plant growing so the roots can begin to grow into the surrounding soils.

Plants that like wet soils such as alders, birches, red maples, willows can be watered more than once a week during hot, dry spells, however, close monitoring is required because of the heavy clay soils.

Too much water can also drown a plant and eventually kill it.

This all seems so basic, yet as I drive around, and observe landscapes, I see the need to water, especially the newer installations.—by MIKE GRECO, principal and owner of Mike Greco Landscape, Inc., Gurnee

Safety tips to lessen dangers at home

Do you know someone who has fallen from a ladder? Slipped in the shower? Closed a door on a finger? Here are some tips to lessen the dangers:

- Keep hallways and stairs well lighted and clear of objects. If stairs have carpet, make sure it is secure. Every stairway should have at least one continuous railing. Remove throw rugs from landings.

- Doors should open, close and lock properly. Windows and screens also need to be checked.

- When working from a ladder, avoid overreaching. Keep your hips within the vertical rails of the ladder.

- Install night lights in bedrooms. Don't pile laundry in an area where people frequently walk.

- In the bathroom, never operate electrical gadgets near water. In the tub, use a mat or install a durable anti-slip material to keep your balance.

- Scalding water can cause serious burns. Check the water temperature and lower it to 120 degrees F.

White, light and airy' is new look in kitchen and bath

Kitchens and baths are among the most visible rooms in your home. They need to be practical, yet keep pace with today's design trends. But did you know that you can completely change the look and character of your kitchen and bath without the high cost of remodeling?

How? With color—the easiest, simplest, most versatile and likely the most affordable design element.

A variety of trendy paint color schemes can add life, lustre and an update to these two most cherished, and used, rooms in the house.

A warm and invited color may make your kitchen cozier, while a cooler tone will enhance smaller bath-

White is still first and foremost the "in" color for kitchens and baths, lending itself to radiating a very clean, airy, fresh, feeling.

Completely white walls, white tile and white cabinets, accented by all colored accessories, add splash and excitement. For a more subtle sophisticated look, add glass or all natural accessories.

But the hottest look for kitchens and baths today is a layering of whites, creams and light neutrals.

If not white, light pastels are next in line for "light and airy." Try peach and almond tones in the bath. Both colors are great compliments to the skin. Warm yellows are making a comeback in the kitchen combined with whites and neutrals.

For kitchen and bath, it's important to remember that a durable specialty paint is necessary for hard-hit areas. By hard hit, that means high-traffic areas, walls and cabinets prone to moisture, steam, high temperatures, rust and mildew.

Under such conditions, paint can crack, peel and fade. Acrylic enamel paints offer superior color options, adhesion and fast-drying benefits, also allows homeowners the convenience of high gloss, durability and one-coat coverage for walls, ceilings, doors, cabinets, woodwork and moldings, even masonry and metal.

How to choose a good miniblind

During the past 10 years, miniblinds have evolved to become the window covering of choice for many Lake County homeowners.

So how can consumers pick out a high-quality miniblind from among the many that are available?

Miniblind experts offer the following tips to help choose a high-quality miniblind:

1. Start by choosing a brand name.

Remember, every manufacturer offers products of differing quality. A brand name is just a starting point.

2. Metal is best. If the slats and front edge of the miniblind are made of metal, you're holding a quality miniblind.

3. Look for miniblinds with parts which can be replaced if broken. Lower grade miniblinds are fastened together with rivets or non-replaceable screws.

Getting African violets to bloom again and again

The African violet is America's most popular—and often is most frustrating—houseplant. How many times have you bought an African violet in full, glorious bloom, watched the blooms die, and then waited weeks, months, even years, gnashing your teeth because no new blooms appeared?

Well, you're not alone. It happens to lots of us. That's the bad news.

The good news is that by following these few simple tips, you'll be amazed to find that your violets will be in bloom almost year-round for years and years.

Whether you have a pink, purple or white violet, whether its leaves are mottled or plain, ruffled or straight, the care of your African violets is always the same: somewhat demanding.

Your road down the garden path to success with African violets begins with purchasing the plant at a nearby nursery or garden center.

The reason most people have trouble getting their violets to bloom is they're not giving the plant enough light. So when you bring your plant home, find a good, bright spot where the plant will get lots of diffused sunlight. The best location for an African violet is either a sunny windowsill with a western exposure, or under artificial light.

Violets should be watered from the bottom so place the plants in trays filled with about an inch of water. The top of the soil should be moist to the touch. Add a few drops of high-quality liquid fertilizer, such as Miracle-Gro, to the watering can each time you water. This method of fertilizing, called the "constant feed" method, was developed by greenhouse growers. African violets can grow quite successfully under artificial light; in fact, many professional growers prefer this method. But for most, the kitchen windowsill is the spot of choice.

An important "trick" in growing lush, vibrant violets is to unpot your plant, slice off about an inch from the bottom of the root system, soil and all, put an inch of perlite or sponge rock in the bottom of the pot. This potting method, known as "the Texas style," helps prevent death from over-watering by allowing excess water to evaporate, thus not drowning the violet's find, fibrous root system with vital extra oxygen. Wait until the soil dries out before watering gain.

Contrary to popular belief, African violets love to have spray baths, which keep them clean and increase the humidity around the plant. Just make sure to spray lukewarm water, as cold

Another problem many growers encounter is allowing "suckers," or new plantlets, to develop in the crown of the plant. These suckers get packed in so tightly that light can't get to the center of the plant, so pick or snip out the suckers as they develop. The additional light this provides is important to keep your violet blooming.

Try to keep the humidity as high as possible around your violets and make sure there's proper circulation.

The Real New York

PRESIDENT, NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

Sure, the 4th of July fireworks in Chicago are impressive. This year, however, I thought I'd fly to New York and catch the spectacular display which Macy's of Manhattan puts on every year.

In addition to being treated to the best 4th of July fireworks ever, I got a chance to experience the real New York, the neighborhoods of Lower Manhattan.

Of New York's three airports I chose to fly into Newark International, since it is the closest to Lower Manhattan. There are also non-stop flights from Milwaukee (my favorite airport) on Midwest Express (my very favorite airline) into Newark.

From the Newark airport it was a $7.00, 20 minute bus ride on Olympia Express to my hotel, the Marriott (was the Vista up until early this year) at the World Trade Center. While this is a somewhat upscale hotel, the Marriott chain does include it in their weekend special packages, so you can usually get a pretty good rate. You also can't find a better location to begin a walking tour of Lower Manhattan.

As soon as I checked in, I headed for the World Trade Center observation deck to play my route. Unlike the Sears Tower or the John Hancock Center, the "WTC" has an outside, as well as an inside observation deck. This "birds-eye" view confirmed what my map showed, that Broadway was my best route.

Descending to ground level, I exited on Vesey Street east to Broadway and then north to Canal St.

On the west side of Broadway, extending to Houston (Hows-ton) street is "So-Ho". The post-Civil War cast-iron buildings of this area are now occupied by New York's art community.

Bordering So-Ho on the east of Broadway is Little Italy. Here I enjoyed a bowl of homemade pasta, and some people watching, at a sidewalk cafe.

To the west of Little Italy is New York's China Town complete with open air markets selling anything from fish to flowers.

A little further north is probably the most famous of New York's neighborhoods, Greenwich Village with its irregular, winding streets and just as irregular shops.

Also a short walk from the WTC is the New York Stock Exchange which is open to visitors. Since I had some time Friday before my flight home, I got a chance to watch my stock tumble in person.

Going loco over logos in Lake County

I have been reading with interest, over the last few months, the controversy surrounding the Lake County Board's decision to invest in a new "look" for county stationery, buildings, and police cars. They apparently decided that the old Lake County logo, which consisted of a rifle, factories, etc., no longer represented our area accurately.

Apparently there were a few board members who wanted to hold a contest for area high school artists to come up with a logo (this has been done in the past), which would have been a considerably cheaper way to go. This idea was voted down, maybe because they feared that high school artists might design a Lake County marijuana leaf logo, or a secret gang symbol, maybe. Or a caricature of Robert Depke shaking hands with land developers. I don't know. But ultimately, the decision was made to hire a reputable (i.e. expensive) firm to design the logo.

In the meantime, we taxpayers in Lake County waited on pins and needles. Oh, boy, we thought, a new logo—Yipee! Finally a big chunk (i.e. big bucks) of our tax money goes to pay for something useful! In fact, prior to this event many of us were embarrassed to say we

Synagogue observes Tisha B'av holiday

Congregation Am Echod, 1500 Sunset Ave., Waukegan, will observe the holiday of Tisha B'av. Services are scheduled as follows: Wednesday, July 24 at 8:15 p.m., Thursday, July 25, 7 a.m. and 6:15 p.m.

Rabbi William Fertig and Cantor Allen Gimpel will conduct the services. Tisha B'av is the saddest day on the Hebrew Calendar. It recalls the destruction of the Holy Temple in Jerusalem by the Romans in the year 70. It is a 24-hour period of time marked by fasting and prayer.

I myself have a logo that appears at the top of my column (a bear at her computer), so I know important it is. I mean, would you people be reading my column if I didn't have a logo?

Of course, good logos don't come cheap (and let's face it, my logo was cheap and it shows, do you really think I look like that? I'm actually much taller). At least not when you have a board that spares no expense when it comes to spending our hard-earned tax dollars on matters of importance to this area. What's $104,000 when you get so much in return?

Anyway, the controversy has continued even as the logo project nears completion. Apparently Mr. Depke only allowed one or two board members to see the proposed design at a time, causing a good deal of gossip over why the whole board couldn't view it together. This puzzled me, too, until I remembered the story of "The Emperor's New Clothes." When the emperor asked his advisors, one at a time, what they thought of the "clothes" his newly-hired tailors had designed for him, they told him the "clothes" were wonderful, despite the fact that the Emperor was wearing only his birthday suit. It was only when he walked through a large crowd of his loyal, taxpaying subjects that someone had the guts to tell him that he was not wearing any clothes.

Now that the proposed design has since been published in the paper, I know why Mr. Depke was trying to keep the logo under wraps except to one or two folks at a time. After taking a good, hard look at it, I think that one of us loyal, taxpaying subjects in Lake County should find the courage to ask Mr. Depke this question:

"A snowflake? $104,000 for a stupid snowflake? In the meantime, maybe I'll give him a call. I have this used car I want to sell!

Empty Pockets—on the way to the top!

Fox Lake's Empty Pockets continues to gain recognition and appreciation thanks to their talent and management. Since their manager Cat Beaulieu has become involved, they have been in the right places at the right time. Just a few of the highlights include: participating and winning the WILL 95.1 Battle of the Bands, Dennis Rodman wore their t-shirt during a national interview, and most recently, they appeared and performed on WLUP "The Loop" 97.9. When I first saw them two years ago, I knew it was a matter of time before they will make it to the top. Be a part of music history, see them now so you can say: "I saw these guys before they made it!" Empty Pockets will be featured in a huge show with four bands coming up July 20 at the Paradise Beach Club in Ingleside. The Empty Pockets Hotline number is (815)334-7631.

Correction

In the July 5 edition of Music Notes, a typo occurred causing great embarrassment for author Greg May and Yacht-Seas in Fox Lake. The column should have read: Yacht-Seas serves up some great munchies from their menu not their men. The error is deeply regretted.

The morphing of 'Prof.' Murphy

Eddie Murphy, alias Sherman Klump and Buddy Love

Like the mirror that Vincent Van Gogh looked into while painting his famous earless self portrait, Eddie Murphy's new movie, "The Nutty Professor," is an artistic reflection of the peaks and valleys of the comedian's career.

This career had leveled off at the bottom of the valley since the days of "Saturday Night Live," "Beverly Hills Cop," and "Trading Places," a place of no return for many show biz livelihoods.

"The Nutty Professor" is a loose remake of an old slapstick Jerry Lewis flick, but this time the remake far surpasses the original — except maybe in France!

Murphy, no stranger to playing more than one character at a time, plays the part of a nerdy professor named Sherman Klump plus many members of his family.

Klump is mentally drowning in his gigantic physique, similarly, Murphy's career was going down for the third time after more movie flops than most stars are allowed.

Just as Klump suffers from an inflated body and deflated personality, Murphy suffered from an obvious inflated ego which deflated his career.

Mirroring the desperate Klump's blossoming when he turns into a svelte image of the real Murphy, after playing Dr. Jekyll with a mysterious blue liquid, Murphy's flagging career should now morph back onto the Walk of Stars.

The comedian, who seemed to have lost the ability to be funny, trading his funnybone in on an attitude worthy only of the tailbone part of the skeleton, is now poking fun at the old Murphy with alacrity and hitting pay dirt doing so. After many false starts, it looks like Murphy is really back.

The bow-tied, humungus Klump, hilariously turns into an slim niteclub lizzard when the real Eddie Murphy crawls out of Klump's excess poundage to literally reflect yesterday's Murphy in all his infamy. Here the nice guy turns into the bad guy in an effort to impress the lovely new kid on the academic block, Jada Pinkett. Though they are sometimes hard to interpret, there are also some funny Klump family scenes featuring Eddie dining with some unrecognizable Eddies. Murphy burlesques the situation literally for all he's worth. Murphy's talent for bouncing from Klump doing an unbelievably light-as-a-feather dance routine, to the slitherings of the alter ego Buddy Love, the original sexist pig, to playing one of the lovely Klump damsels, is a measure of his talent.

This "Nutty Professor" could be Murphy's way of apologizing to his public for past perfidies by showing them he can still "make 'em laugh."

The real scene stealer of the show is makeup artist Rick Baker, who makes Eddie into the many realistic candidates for weight anonymous. To those detractors who claim "The Nutty Professor" does the politically incorrect thing of making fun of fat people, get over it, that's what comedy is, making fun!

"The Nutty Professor" rated PG-13, another twist on the "Raw" Eddie Murphy, gets three out of five stars, the kids will appreciate a lot of the slapstick that left us cold.—by GLORIA DAVIS

Lipservice is a phone-in column presented as a feature of Lakeland Newspapers. Lakeland Newspapers makes no claim to the authenticity of the statements. Lakeland Newspapers does not claim the content or the subject matter as fact, but as the personal opinion of the caller. Although the call is anonymous, please leave your village name.

To "It's personal," how can you criticize Trustee Wansheck for being with his family in their time of need? I'm glad I'm not a member of your family because I know where your priorities lie.

To the employee at Lakeview School, I also am employed there and feel the removal of the principal was uncalled for. To let someone go who was fabulous with parents, and is 100 percent behind her staff and puts kids first is definitely not in the best interest of the school. The new person has big shoes to fill. Good luck, Carolyn, you'll be missed.

You can call her Doc Hoc or Saint Joan. In our neighborhood, we call Grayslake Superintendent Joan Hochschild terrific. Thanks for our new school, lower class sizes, commitment to curriculum, and your focus on children first.

Don't let one socially inept board member get to you. In fact, ignore the local hairdresser and now ousted PTO president and the Christian fundamentalist who are all board member wannabes. They sure don't speak for the overwhelming majority of people whose children attend your schools. Don't accept big district offers yet. We need you and appreciate you and continue to thank you for your brilliant management of District 46.

I'm calling from Lake Villa Township in response to a new report about Jim Semmerling, the highway commissioner in the June 28 Lipservice. In addition to the $3,000 for the little road signs, he did it because people didn't like it. He spent the money to make everyone unhappy because that made him happy. He's gone one step further and erected a snow fence costing in excess of $2,500 in the Chesney Shores subdivision so the Stormwater Management people can't get to the park to alleviate the flooding for the people that live around the park. This is a violation of private property and unsightly. The man has got to be held accountable for the money he's wasting and spending. The taxpayers should demand to know why he's wasting our money.

Thank you, "Zero home values," it's about time someone tells it like it is. My home value, like all my neighbors, went down this year. My taxes went up, up, up. At the rate the school board is spending our money and increasing their administrative salaries, we'll be out of money. Guess what's next?

Referendums, larger class sizes and no new curriculum. Keep it up, Doc Hoc. At the rate you're going, the only house to sell in Grayslake will be yours. Or do you rent?

I have the answer as to why the White Sox fans don't go to games. You have a lousy ball park in a dangerous neighborhood, two moron announcers and a big mouth shortstop who bashes fans, not to mention a left fielder who punches them. The Cubs drew more than 155,000 this past weekend. The Sox didn't even come close to that two weekends ago against Cleveland and half the fans in Comiskey were wearing Indian hats. Sox fans are unloyal. They don't care. Gov. Thompson should have let them move to Florida. But no, the taxpayers and hotel visitors are stuck with the bill for that farce of a ballpark. The Sox pay nothing to the state for two more years. When they do have to pay, they will be doing it at a loss. That means bye-bye Sox, see ya in Nashville. That also means bye-bye to all that tax money. At least we won't have to listen to those two goons in the TV booth. If they want to do comedy, I'll get them a job at Zanie's. So just remember, Sox fans, this is a Cubs town. Wrigley Field is the best and the Sox and Comiskey will always take a back seat!

I have to say I just love Lipservice because it lets me know what people are thinking and I get to comment, too. I agree with the person who says the Wauconda Library should be open longer. I've often thought it was wrong that they're closed on Sundays all summer. That's the only day I get to use it. They're not open long enough during the week, either. All they ever want to do is build up. They need to extend the hours and they won't have to build. I think the guy who wrote in saying extend Rte. 53 into a tunnel is right, it's a good idea. I don't know why no one thought of it sooner. It seems like a good solution to the problem. Also, why do car manufacturers put ashtrays in cars? Smokers never use them!

Hal Berger, you're behavior as a board member is appalling, disrespectful and, most certainly, misguided. Your claim to fame is that you represent the most negative, back-stabbing and destructive parents of the community. What about the other 2,000 families, Hal? We'd like to see you behave in a professional and respectful manner. In fact, with the help of your programmers, Mrs. Cicmanec, Mrs. Netter, Mrs. Ahern, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Desjardins, and Mrs. Engelhart, you could open your own school. Why not call it Negative U?

Trustee Wanshek, those of us who realize that you missed recent board meetings to be with a dying family member, we share your grief. For the inconsiderate jerk who wrote it's personal in Lipservice, if this is what you consider politics, you've reached a new low. Trustee Wanshek, I'm Sorry for the pain caused to your family by the person who called Lipservice, and the Wauconda reader for printing it. Shame on both of you.

Learn the facts

"It's personal," calling from Wauconda in the June 28 issue, Trustee Dave Wanshek has missed our board meetings in five years. The missed meeting prompting our call was because he was at the bedside of his dying father-in-law, giving him support and comfort. I know Dave as a Christian gentleman, loyal public servant, devoted father, loving husband, and a caring neighbor. Please learn the facts before passing your judgment.

Build eateries

I live in Grayslake's English Meadows subdivision. I think instead of building more houses, they need to build some decent, cool trendy restaurants and stores so we don't have to go to Round Lake, Libertyville, Vernon Hills, and Gurnee for our shopping. We should have a Chili's, TGI Fridays, etc. There's no stores, either. I live and work in Grayslake and there's no cool place to go to lunch.

In disguise

Consider this, the town of Grayslake would like to help out the school district by providing a space for some of our school administrators and they don't even want to charge us rent. This is how a community government should work in cooperation to help our common community. Yet the school district doesn't get it. They turn around and want to add more cost bureaucracy to our park district by increasing their user fees for facilities use for things like kids basketball, etc. Of course all of our kids use the schools and the parks, and we all live in the same community. Isn't this fee increase really a tax hike to the community, the users of the park district programs?

We're not happy

The superintendent of schools, Dr. Cox, for Dist. 95, seems to think that everybody's happy with the Lake Zurich school system. We're not. We're sick of his school buses speeding down our street and we've reported it to him. He seems to want to send our propaganda making himself look good. We're not happy at all. It's very dangerous for children living on these streets.

Have compassion

This is in reply to "It's personal." Trustee Wanshek missed several board meetings because of an illness in his family. He was caring and compassionate enough to be with the family member when he died. How compassionate was the person who called Lipservice about Trustee Wanshek? Once again, Lipservice has been a great disservice to someone allowing callers to speak without identifying themselves. Trustee Wanshek, we are sorry for your recent loss.

Laws are laws

This is for the Grayslake Police Department. I would sincerely like to thank you for ticketing the people who parked on the wrong side of the street at the garage sale at Haryan Farms subdivision. I think people need to start believing the "no parking" signs. I think all people parking on the wrong side should be ticketed. Laws are laws.

Hats off

Hats off to Hal in District 46 for standing up democracy and trying to do things the right way the first time. In spite of the browbeating, intimidation, and gross lack of cooperation by others. District 46 superintendent should be sitting with the business manager, not at the board table. I was appalled at the whispering between the superintendent and board president throughout the last few board meetings. Any important input should be shared with all the board members and personal matters left for private. To my knowledge, the superintendent is not part of the school board, but hired by them, as are all other administrators that sit at their own table.

Good luck

To Carolyn Hendricks, you'll be greatly missed by the kids and parents of Lakeview. We thank you from the bottom of our hearts for the goodness you bestowed upon us. Your administrative style was one of collaboration. This loss is not yours, but ours as well. Remember to always keep your smile bright. Good luck!

Explain, please

I'm calling from Fox Lake. In the paper I saw that Mr. Segin, the trustee representing Fox Lake people, is building a restaurant in Fox Lake. What I'd like is to request everyone in Fox Lake to appear at the next board meeting. I understand he would like the village to pay for street lights so his new restaurant can be lit up. I'd like to know why we, the taxpayers, will end up paying for his lights. I'd like him to give us an explanation at the next meeting.

Free tuition?

I'm calling about the fact that St. Joseph School in Round Lake was over $40,000 in arrears in tuition. Therefore, I think it should all be free. If half the people aren't going to pay, then why should we?

What about us?

Lakeland, I'm ragged! I'm reading the paper and you've got absolutely nothing about our fireworks. You don't tell anything about Fox Lake fireworks. I thought this was the Fox Lake Press, not Vernon Hills. I'd like to read about stuff in my town, not everybody else's. How about it?

Editor's Note: If you look on page A3 of the June 28 issue of the Fox Lake Press, there is an article written by Tina Sweich specifically on the subject of Fox Lake's Fourth of July fireworks and other holiday events. The Vernon Hills information you speak of was an advertisement for the Revolutionary War Re-enactment, an historical event co-sponsored by Lakeland Newspapers which people from all communities were invited to attend. Fox Lake's fireworks are also mentioned on page nine of our annual Rec Guide publication, which was inserted into the June 28 issue of all of Lakeland's newspapers.

Quit listening

This is to "Quit babbling." It's really pitiful. You should be ashamed of yourself for having your ears stretched out so long that you're listening to other people's conversations. If you mind your own business, there wouldn't be so many problems in this world.

No right

I see the police and their road blocks were out again. I don't care who they're trying to catch. They have no right to inconvenience me or anyone else. I can't believe you humans out there are allowing this to happen. I can't believe it! What are you going to do next, allow them in your house without a warrant?

Fly the flag

Why can't Round Lake Beach, with the amount of people that live here, display American flags down Cedar Lake Road like all other communities in Lake County? Go through all the villages. I'd like to know why we can't do that at least on the Fourth of July. How many veterans live in Round Lake Beach that would like to see us represent the ones that went to war for us. Are we Americans or what?

Horoscope

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You're on top of things where your job interests are concerned. However, you could have misgivings early in the week about a certain relationship matter. It's in your best interest to admit when you've been wrong. Others react favorably to humility.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) One of your friendships will be strengthened this week. A task which is assigned you early on is troublesome. However, as a result of executing it successfully, your future prospects take a turn for the better.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) You're all business and you'll allow nothing to distract you from your goals this week. You know that hard work brings positive results. However, you must be patient with the final decision of a higher-up. This is subject to change.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Take a break this week and clear your mind. This leads to new insights. Capitalize on those new opportunities which arise in the latter part of the week. Although you have mixed feelings about socializing this weekend, it's not the time for you to seek the spotlight.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Although you probably shouldn't burn the candle at both ends for the sake of your health, social visits will prove very rewarding this week. You'll make important progress with creative pursuits. It's also a good week to begin a new area of study.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) You'll intensify your efforts to get ahead in life this week as the push is on to succeed. A ticklish business situation requires your special touch later in the week. If offered a deal, you can feel free to sign that contract.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Think twice before making a purchase this week as you could have regrets later and a possible argument with a partner. However, things basically will go very much your way romantically this weekend if you're wise.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Strain could exist between a friend and a family member this week. However, don't get yourself in the position of having to choose between the two. The situation will resolve itself on its own. Just observe quietly from the safe sidelines.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) You're very effective in presenting your ideas this week. While an exciting travel opportunity is waiting in the wings, there are still some duties to be attended to before packing your bags. Tackle these first.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) You'll have extra determination and drive to achieve this week. As a result, you're asked to take a leadership role on the job. Your ideas are good and, if implemented, lead to great success in the long run.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) You're likely this week to receive extra responsibilities in connection with child-rearing or a family matter. However, it also will bring important career developments. Explore another's innovative ideas.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Financial prospects should improve this week. Getting an unfinished task out of the way will be easier than you had anticipated. Sometimes, you have a tendency to become overly anxious.

WAUKEGAN

The Waukegan of today was the Little Fort of the pioneer. Tradition claims that the place where Waukegan now stands was once the site of a small fort and was occupied by the French as a trading post. It is supposed that this place was visited in 1670 by LaSalle and Hennepin. It was also the site of a Potawatomi village.

When Little Fort grew to about 2,500 inhabitants it was decided to change the name, since the "little" seemed to indicate a place of small size. Indian language experts were consulted and the translations of Little Fort that were suggested were Waukeganse, Waukegon, and Waukegan. The name was officially changed from Little Fort to Waukegan 1849. Source: Illinois Place Names, by James N. Adams, and Lake County History, 1902, edited by Charles Partridge.

Hospital awards scholarships

Eleven area students have been named as recipients of the 16 annual Good Shepherd Hospital Auxiliary scholarships. Volunteer goes extra step for newborns

No baby goes home from Victory Memorial Hospital with cold feet. Ann Schnak, a 77 year old volunteer from Waukegan, sees to that. She knits baby booties for the newborns to make sure they have something to keep their toes warm on the trip home.

them to the New Family Center."

That was about 240 pairs of booties ago. Schnak knits at a pace of approximately one pair of booties a week.

"It takes about two hours to make one bootie," she said. "I always carry my knitting with

'Now that more people have found out what I do, people are giving me baby yarn.'

—Ann Schnak

"I do it for the ones who don't have a lot when they leave," Schnak said. "I volunteer at the hospital and saw some of the newborns leaving without much so I asked if there was anything I could do. I had some baby yarn leftover so I started knitting booties and donating me and just do it whenever I have the time."

The booties come in a variety of colors and designs, depending on Schnak's mood and the yarn she has left.

"Now that more people have found out what I do, people are giving me baby yarn," Schnak, said. "I usually put some sort of pattern or design on the insteps or cuffs."

The New Family Center distributes the booties whenever they see a need.

Schnak also donated Christmas booties to the Victory Hospital Foundation's Festival of Trees gift shop. In the past ten years, Schnak has volunteered more than 2,000 hours of her time to Victory. She is also a volunteer at the Waukegan Public Library.

Schnak learned to knit from a high school friend's mother. Over the years she has knitted for her children, grandchildren and even her granddaughter's doll.

"I don't take volunteer credit for knitting the booties for the New Family Center," she said. "I'm just glad to do it and hope people enjoy them."

Victory Memorial Hospital offers many opportunities for volunteer experiences. To learn more about volunteers, call 360-4127.

self-awareness, self-esteem and confidence. Participants will also become aware of the richness and diversity of the different Native American tribes and how they influenced their regions.

The classes will be taught by Good Shepherd Hospital Art Therapist Mary Farrell, who works with both adolescents and adults on stress reduction, relaxation and self-awareness programs

'Through the inter-weaving of art and nature, participants will produce works of art that reflect their individuality, as well as, the spirit of the Native American people and their respect of the earth.'

—Mary Farrell,
Good Shepherd art therapist

Activities will include mask-making, based on the medicine wheel of the tribes of the Eastern Forest; medicine bundles to hold special herbs and flowers, as the Plains Indians made; clay pottery and effigy vessels of the Anasazi tribes; Kachina dolls from the Hopi and Navajo; and totem poles of the Pacific Northwest. Through story-telling, poetry, music, and the art process, participants will learn relaxation skills, and have an opportunity for creative expression that can increase through the use of art. "Through the inter-weaving of art and nature, participants will produce works of art that reflect their individuality, as well as, the spirit of the Native American people and their respect of the earth," said Farrell. Farrell added that upon completion of the program, the art pieces will be displayed in a special exhibit in the lobby of Good Shepherd Hospital.

Care center offers 'Dialog with the Doctors' series

"We look forward to meeting our neighbors in the Gurnee area and have designed Dialogue With the Doctors to be informal conversations with our health care professionals," explained Kathy Schrank, manager of the Condell Acute Care Center. "We also want our neighbors to think of us as a resource for health information, right in their backyard."

The series is scheduled on Monday evenings, July 15, 22, 29 from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Though there is no charge for the lectures, reservations are requested by calling 362-2905, ext 5770. The physicians included in the July dialogues are:

Dr. Tim Samuelson, "Summer Secrets: A Pediatrician Answers Common Summertime Health Questions", Monday, July 15, 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Dr. John Tasiopoulos, "How Do I Know It's Only Heartburn?", Monday, July 22, 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Dr. Hosep Deyrmenjian, "Maintaining a Healthy Digestive System," Monday, July 29, 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Expert offers advice for safe, healthy summer picnics

Planning the perfect picnic begins with preparing safe food. Now that summer is here and the temperature is beginning to rise, the threat of food poisoning is imminent.

Food poisoning is caused by bacteria that is widely present on humans, animals, and birds. When this bacteria is on or in food it multiplies rapidly at warm temperatures (between 60-125 degrees).

"The symptoms of food poisoning include severe abdominal cramps, diarrhea, nausea, and sometimes vomiting," Susan Lorber R.D., clinical dietitian at Victory Memorial Hospital, Waukegan, said.

"The most common food borne illnesses are caused by the mishandling of food in homes and commercial settings," Lorber said. "While preparing food for picnics, it is possible to prevent the growth of bacteria by paying close attention to temperature control and cleanliness."

Wash work surfaces, knives, utensils, and cutting boards before preparing foods because bacteria can spread easily from one surface to another. Also, check the expiration dates on foods and do not use food that is out of date. Do not use canned goods that are swollen, dented, or otherwise damaged.

Eggs and some raw meats may contain Salmonella, a bacteria that can cause food poisoning. These products should be used with care.

"You should not eat any foods that contain raw eggs," Lorber said. "Trim fat from meat, as well as the fat and skin from poultry and fish, because pesticides can concentrate in animal fat."

Contrary to popular belief, mayonnaise does not increase the risk of food poisoning. Most mayonnaise contains acid and salt which actually slows bacterial growth. "But be sure to keep foods that contain protein such as eggs, meats, and mayonnaise cold," Lorber said.

Likewise, cook meats, poultry, eggs and fish well before eating. "Wash fresh fruits and vegetables carefully. As a rule, supermarkets don't wash produce before putting it out on the shelves. It is only misted while on display," Lorber said.

When preparing food for a picnic, it is important to wash your hands before handling the food.

"To prevent the spread of bacteria when picnicking, bring moist towelettes along with you to clean your hands before eating," Lorber said.

The best way to prevent food poisoning when picnicking is to store food properly. "You want to keep things as cold as possible," she said. "Using coolers with a lot of ice can help keep foods fresh."

Always pack food and beverages in separate coolers to eliminate opening the food cooler frequently. It is also important to leave food in the cooler when it is not being eaten. Lorber suggests using two bowls while the food is out. "One filled with ice, can cool the other smaller bowl that holds a small amount of the food in it."

Never put a cooler in the trunk of your car; instead, place it inside the vehicle on the floor to keep it out of the heat and sun.

Additionally, if you are planning on cooking ground beef or poultry, defrost it in the refrigerator rather than out on the counter," Lorber said. "Also, discard prepared food left outdoors for more than two hours."

Make sure to bring plenty of extra cooking and eating utensils when picnicking. Bacteria is often spread by the sharing of utensils. In addition, when grilling-out be careful not to use the same platter for raw and cooked meats because that dish is one way bacteria could be spread.

—Ask Don Garltis— The difference between threadlockers and lockwashers

Q. Recently you addressed a reader with a full-size Dodge van. I too have a problem on this vehicle. I tow a trailer weighing 6,000 pounds. My truck has a 1986 318 V-8 with a 3.73 rear-end ratio. While this combination is OK on level highway, it really struggles on hills. I have tried higher octane gas with no success. Can I replace the ring gear in the differential? What gear would boost it - say 4 or 4.2? In tow, it gets about 10 miles per gallon. —William R

A. The installation of a 4.11 or 4.10 ring pinion would do wonders for your towing combination, without any further reduction in your gas mileage. In fact, depending on the amount of time your vehicle is under load, your mpg may get even better. It is a common trick in the racing world, where vehicles are constantly changing, to change the ring and pinion for better torque. In the good ol' days, the standard passenger cars came with different ratios to coincide with the particular terrain they were sold in. Back then, there wasn't very much coast to coast and border to border driving. For example, the Eastern Seaboard would get a 4.10, Deep south, a 3.73, the Midwest Plains, a 3.54 and finally the really mountainous area, the Rockies, would get a 4.44. This is not necessary today with lightweight vehicles and plenty of power readily available.

Q. I rebuild cars as a hobby, sometimes classic, others just for fun.

What are chemical threadlockers? I have heard them touted as replacements for the old lockwashers we have used for years. —Bernie K.

A. Threadlockers are chemically engineered products that are classified as anaerobic chemicals. Anaerobics cure or activate in the absence of air. In this application, this is the space between a fastener thread and the hole or nut thread. There are different applications for various fastener environments - temperature, fluids, oils and gaps. The common style of fastener relies on friction to stay in place. Due to vibrations, thermal expansion and the torque "stored" in the fastener, it will over a period of time work to loosen the clamping force. The thread-locker has been used in racing for a number years and is, in my opinion, superior to lockwashers. However, for your situation, if you are restoring antiques and classics, you would probably want to use the old style for any authentic work. Of course, it wouldn't hurt to use both in this case, one for security and the other for originality.

Editor's note: "Big Daddy" Don Garltis answers technical questions of general interest on automobiles, but cannot make personal replies. His answers are intended to point out possible solutions to problems and may not apply in every case. Send your questions to Don Garltis, c/o Lakeland Newspapers, 30 S. Whitney St., Grayslake, IL 60030.

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: Dear...Search: Rumor has it that my company is about to undergo restructuring. While the rumor has been kept relatively low key, there are those of us who fear for our jobs. I have been with (name withheld) for four years and during that time have been a very dedicated employee always called upon to help out in different areas. I am loyal, conscientious, and tops when it comes to being a team player. I am not sure whether or not I should be seeking other employment at this time. I don't feel I should start looking until I know what is in the cards for me here. I have heard that restructuring can be brutal. What do you suggest? J.G. - Libertyville

A: Dear J.G.: Key words ... "Rumor" and "Restructuring". There is a big line between rumor and fact! And restructuring does not necessarily have to be negative! I have worked with many companies where by restructuring meant hiring on additional staff, not reducing staff. I would be concerned with the idea that this may only be a rumor, and those fellow co-workers jumping ship at this time may be making a big mistake. Don't listen to what may be idle gossip. If you have concerns about the possibility of restructuring ... speak with your immediate supervisor. Explain that the rumor has been brought to your attention and that while you are not one to listen to rumor, you are coming to him/her to ask if this possibility does exist. Follow up immediately with the fact that you would hope if there is a form of restructuring, that the company will take into consideration your strong work attitude, your leadership qualities, loyalties and capabilities. In essence, your letter to me pretty much summed up everything you should let them know. You may want to inform your fellow co-workers that the term restructuring does not necessarily mean the company is in trouble. It may very well be that your company is cost conscious and would like to reorganize departments for efficiency as well. Spread the word ... it is better to be known for spreading information rather than rumors. Should the possibility exist that the situation goes the other way, give me a call. You describe yourself as an ideal employee. Good luck!

Q: Dear...Search: With spring rapidly approaching, the desire for employees to get out at lunchtime is growing. While our company is one where most everyone stays in for lunch, the employees got together and asked the owner if it would be okay that if they (the employees) could raise the money for two picnic tables, would he allow it. We explained that we felt if we had the ability to spend our lunches outside, fewer employees would leave the premises at lunchtime, thus cutting down on coming back late from lunch and also allow the employees to get some fresh air and sunshine. In total, people would be happier. He asked to mull it over and would get back to us the next day. Much to our surprise, the next morning we arrived at work to find three picnic tables outside compliments of our company with a note: "To my fine employees: Ask and you may receive". So we hope you will allow us to say a big Thank You to Mr. (name withheld), but would also like you to tell your readers that most companies react well to constructive suggestions. Don't be afraid to ask. Sign us ... Happy Campers!

A: Dear H.C.'s: Good suggestion... very well posed to your employer. Hope you have loads of sunny days.

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee & Vernon Hills. Letters can be sent to Nancy at 4949 Grand Ave., Gurnee, IL 60031.

PET OF THE WEEK

"SATIN"

Satin likes to be held and is used to being handled by gentle children. She also gets along well with other cats. Sweet and easy going, Satin has a calm, docile, responsive personality and she enjoys attention and affection. True to her loving instincts, after weaning her own kittens in an orphan foster home, she "adopted" six more orphaned one week old kittens and raised them as her own. All twelve kittens found homes, but Satin still waits for someone to love her and give her the home she deserves. Satin is wearing a collar with Tag #A-321.

Cash $40 donation includes free spay/neuter, collar, tag, first shots, follow up care, FELV test and much more.

Orphans of the Storm is located at 2200 Riverwoods
Rd., Deerfield, Illinois. Hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., seven days a

Landmark Designs

SINGLEBODE

The 1149 square foot Singlebode is an economical house with a floor plan perfectly suited for the needs of empty nesters wishing to down-size, or for a young family searching for their first home.

The attached garage conveniently opens directly into the kitchen. This allows you, regardless of the weather, to unload groceries with a minimum of bother. There is space in the garage to put a washer and dryer.

The kitchen has lots of room for the cook to maneuver while preparing meals. Amenities include walk-in pantry, dishwasher, range and oven. An eating bar is handy for those informal times.

The spacious living room flows unobstructed into the dining area. This creates a roominess that belies the square footage. The dining room has a sliding glass door to the back patio. There is enough room here to relax in the sun with a barbecue and some lounge chairs.

The master suite extends out from the left with a view window to the front. The amenities here include a large sleeping area and a walk-in closet. The bathroom on the first floor conveniently services both the master bedroom and the living room.

Two bedrooms occupy the second floor, each having sufficient closet space. They share a corner bathroom fitted with linen storage.

For a study kit of the SINGLEBODE (405-30), send $10.00, to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307-LP60, Eugene, OR 97402 (Be sure to specify plan name & number) For a collection of plan books featuring our most popular home plans, send $20 to Landmark, or call 1-800-562-1151.

IMPROVE YOUR DRIVE!

Play Better Golf with JACK NICKLAUS

GOOD PLAYERS ARE ALWAYS "EASY IN THE KNEES" AT ADDRESS AND DURING THE SWING. THE AMOUNT OF FLEX DEPENDS ON BUILD AND SWING STYLE, BUT SHOULD NEVER GO BEYOND CERTAIN LIMITS.

BEING TOO STRAIGHT OR STIFF IN THE LEGS CREATES TENSION AND PREVENTS FULL COILING OF THE BODY. LOCKING TOO MUCH "GIVE" IN THE KNEES UNDERMINES SOLID ANCHORING AND LOWER BODY RESILIENCE.

THE ANSWER IS JUST ENOUGH FLEX TO COMBINE COMFORT WITH A SENSE OF SPRINGINESS.

Ameritech creates historic web site for Chicago '96

Want to take a virtual reality tour of Chicago? Want to hear Teddy Roosevelt deliver his 1912 speech at the Bull Moose Convention? Or, want to get the scoop on the Democratic National Convention coming to town this summer? All of this information and more is available on a new Internet site.

Ameritech Corp. is donating a site and providing the development work for a location on the World Wide Web (WWW) that will be devoted to showcasing the City of Chicago and the 1996 Democratic National Convention.

"We're committed to creating a robust site that includes everything from a historical look at Chicago's role in political conventions to information about Chicago's sights and sounds," said Richard C. Notebaert, president and chief executive officer of Ameritech and co-chair of Chicago '96. "This will be a and useful information for those visiting Chicago for the convention and a virtual experience for those not able to be there in person. New features will be added to the site almost every day.

'This will be a one-stop resource for information pertaining to the city and the upcoming convention.'

The web site, located at <http://www.chicago96.org>, is designed to provide real

The site will feature five main sections: Chicago, Education, News, History and Fun. At launch, the site will include more than 200 pages of information, 60 quick-time virtual reality scenes, hundreds of images, audio features and a user-friendly software interface.

Although Ameritech is contributing the site and development work on the various sections, the project has a host of partners. Participants include the Chicago Sun-Times, Travelocity, WMAQ Radio, Reuters and the Chicago '96 committee. Each organization will contribute content for the various sections of the web site.

The site will be politically neutral and it will highlight the city's role as convention host. Ameritech will maintain the site's political neutrality by using the news section to highlight all political news (the site will be fully functional for the Republican convention in San Diego).

Fans of latest trend not just blowing smoke

MICHAEL H. BABICZ

Staff Reporter

Cigar smoking is often thought of as a part of days gone by. Such is not the case.

Proof can be found in the back walk-in humidor of Tool Shed Jr. located at 704 W. Rollins Road in Round Lake Heights. From the outside, one would think it was your typical odds and ends type of store. It is. With one major exception: Located just behind the checkout lines at the front of the store is a climate and atmosphere controlled place where people can come to listen to a little blues music and get away from it all.

"It's a guy's favorite room," explained Brian Zikus, brother of the owner, who has become the cigar expert for the store. "Some come in to just talk cigars, others to try something new."

"We have both novice and advanced cigar smokers," said Greg Klyczek, who assists Zikus with the humidor. "We try to figure out what their tastes are and meet them."

Zikus noted that initially he was handling the cigar portion of the business as a "part-time" thing. Now it has grown into such a major part of the business that it has become a full-time position as he is in contact with brokers daily to get the best prices and newest lines available.

"We know the different countries and what specific flavors they are known for," he explained. "They all have distinct flavors and aromas."

The difference in cigars can be likened to the various types of beers available.

"Some are very light," Klyczek said. "I like to say they are the type you can stir your cereal with in the morning."

"It's kind of like beer," Zikus added. "Some people swear by a certain brand of beer and won't switch no matter what. Guys swear by their brand of cigar and won't switch either."

In addition to the Round Lake Heights location, Zikus and his brother have Tool Shed at 417 Railroad Ave., Round Lake, Tool Land in McHenry and Tool Masters in Crystal Lake. A new, larger, walk-in humidor is being constructed at a new store in Cary. Although Tool Land is the only other location currently with a humidor, all of the stores offer cigars.

The number one problem for a cigar store owner today is "availability."

Supply and demand

Arturo Fuente is one of Tool Shed's most popular labels out of the 385 different brands and styles available. Zikus admits that of the 25 different styles which Fuente makes, his store is only able to stock four. Honduras, Nicaragua and Panama are some of the main countries from where cigars are imported.

"Each has their own different blends and tastes," Klyczek said, See CIGARS on page C3.

Expert explains the science of good cigars

A cigar breaks down into three main sections. One is the filler which is made up of long strips of tobacco. Then it is wrapped by a binding tobacco. The filler and binding tobaccos are what gives a cigar its distinctive taste. Those two are bound together with a wrap tobacco.

Although many of the tobaccos in cigars are imported, much of the outer wrap is actually grown in the United States. Connecticut is the leading producer of "shade wrap." Often seen growing in fields under shade trees, it is the most expensive and sought after cigar wrap in the world.

"A lot of the flavor comes from the wrap," explained Brian Zikus, noting there are about six different shades of cigar wrap. "It's very scientific. It's kind of like the differences in wines, light and dark, and in beers with different hops."

"One man's pleasure is another man's poison," said Greg Klyczek. "Cigar smoking is very personalized. It makes selling cigars a little tougher. When someone comes into the humidor, we always make sure there is someone from the store with them. We like to give them a little knowledge, but usually, they end up giving us knowledge in return."—by MICHAEL H. BABICZ

Tool Shed offers a wide variety including bundles of 20 to 25 cigars which can go for about $9, to different types of individual fine cigars ranging from 50 cents to $11 each. Gift package selections are available in a wide variety of price ranges. Zikus stresses his stores have a "very low markup, usually 25 to 40 percent under what you'd normally see at a cigar shop."

"It's just like our tools and everything else we have," Zikus explained. "We'd rather have repeat business instead of getting who only comes once. We want people to come back."

In addition to the cigars themselves, various accessories including at-home humidors are available.

"You don't have to get real expensive, like the recent Kennedy humidor which went for six figures," Zikus laughed. "You can keep cigars fresh by simply using a moist sponge and a Tupperware container."

Despite the increased popularity of both cigar smokers and people wanting to get into the cigar business, humidors such as Tool Shed Jr.'s are rare in the area.

"Some of the suppliers have back orders up to 6 million cigars per company," Zikus said. "It's all due to the increased popularity."

"Three to four years ago, no one was interested in getting into the cigar business," Zikus said, and Klyczek agreed. "Now, business is almost too good. Cigars are in demand from your fine cigar shops to gas stations."

Zikus admits he himself did not smoke cigars until about two years ago. Now he has about three per day.

Who's lighting up?

The gender and types of people who smoke cigars varies just about as much as the numerous brands available.

"Women are really getting into cigar smoking a lot more," said Zikus, admitting the Midwest seems to be the latest area where it has become "acceptable" for women to smoke cigars. "At the Crystal Lake and McHenry stores, we have a lot of women who come in regularly."

"It's very popular to have a couple come in together and choose cigars," he explained. "The image of the grubby guy smoking an old stogie is gone."

The appeal is no longer to just the upper class professional businessman either.

"Everyday guys come in, not just the business executives," said Zikus. "You don't have to be on vacation, sitting on a pier, relaxing, to enjoy a cigar. Some guys like to be able to smoke a cigar while mowing the lawn or taking the dog out for a walk."

With an increase in health consciousness by Americans, cigars are noted to be safer to smoke than cigarettes, Klyczek said.

"The top five insurance carriers in the country don't penalize someone for cigar smoking," he Eighty percent of our cigar smoking business has come from one cigar smoker telling another fellow smoker," Zikus admits.

Tool Shed Jr. is open seven days per week, from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and 8 a.m. until 8 p.m. Sunday. A cigar hotline is available during store hours at 847-546-CIGAR(2442).

Business myths: Don't believe everything you hear

DON TAYLOR
Correspondent

Three years ago I wrote a column about common business myths. Myths are not outright lies. Rather, myths often contain some truth, at least enough to convince most of us that they are true. However, they are false even if you see them written as fact.

I shared four common business myths in the previous column. The first was, "The customer is always right." This myth is well known and some have carved it in stone. The fact is, customers are wrong sometimes. However, customers are the only reason your business exists, so treat them right even if they're wrong.

The second myth was, "Customers always buy the lowest price." They don't. Customers want value, a fair exchange for the money they spend. Give them high quality and great service and you can sell Rolex watches, Cadillac cars and 10-toppings pizzas.

The third myth was, "Discounters don't offer customer service." They do, but they have lowered customers' expectations for service in the process. They created a market position based on price, no service as we think of it. Some of the great services they do offer include convenient hours, clean restrooms, a wide selection of merchandise and great return policies.

The fourth myth was, "Everyone is my target customers." All too often businesses try to be "everything to everybody" and end up being "nothing special to anybody." Find a market segment you can serve better than anyone else and watch your business grow.

Here are six more myths to consider.

• A business loan would solve my problems. While a business loan may lower your stress level for the short term, it will not solve your problems. In fact, cash shortages in a business are usually a sign of deeper problems. Sometimes adding debt to a troubled business is like pouring water on a drowning man. Get help to find the cause of cash shortages and then work on those problems.

• When I get my patent, someone will give me a lot of money for my invention. This is a common belief, but unfortunately another myth. It is true that a strong, well-written patent can add value to a marketable invention. However, the key word is "marketable." There are millions of patented inventions that never sold in the market place.

• When my business grows it will get better. The words of the true statement are nearly the same as the myth—if you rearrange the order. When my business gets better it will grow.

• I don't have time to write a business plan. The truth is we always have time to do what we want to do. If you don't want to write a business plan, it won't write itself. However, the business plan can be a great tool for gathering information, answering questions, eliminating mistakes, organizing details and acquiring money. It is essential in helping existing firms improve and become more profitable.

• I can become very successful working eight-to-five, Monday through Friday. I suppose it could happen. However, I'm never surprised when I find someone I look up to professionally, working early in the morning, late in the evening or on the weekends. Success has its price and its rewards.

• We will work on that tomorrow. For most of us tomorrow never comes. Today is only followed by another today.

Only those tasks we take care of today will be completed today. Procrastination is a destroyer of careers and businesses. Learn to be a "do it now, finish it today" person.
